YEAR

Activity brought changes and was the basis for progress at KHS. The Warriors moved onward in all endeavors. Each individual found himself an integral part of the spirited "Green and White" personality as an important cog in the wheel of action.

A faculty, united in its aims, was the driving force which produced more educational activity, a willingness to work and a desire to excel academically. The administration was an effective link between the faculty and the student body to ensure a vibrant school personality.

Spirit and enthusiasm prevailed during the year as feature programs originated, grew and reflected the originality and initiative of the "Willing Warriors".

Togetherness, leadership, social grace and specialization were the dynamic forces that spurred our activities and made them worthwhile. Adversities were overcome by greater effort.

All sports events produced exciting moments. All Warriors gave their best. Competition was keen and abilities developed through the year. Kecoughtan's student body kept school spirit high with their enthusiastic support and loyalty in victory or defeat.

Class rivalry and leadership existed with the ever-growing student body. In each student the excitement of interclass rivalry produced a spirit of animation and eagerness. Pride in the "Green and White" and the desire to excel predominated this school year.

Your "Tomahawk" will review and record the 1966-67 school year-the KHS Year of Action.

Faculty and Administration

The basic facet of Kecoughtan High School's personality is the faculty and administration. The aim of these people is to provide a scholastic approach to learning and a way of life to each willing Warrior. Through emphasis on education and individual recognition the faculty and the administration constantly urge the students to greater victories and successes. New and different methods are employed to bring the students to the realization of the enjoyment and fulfillment of learning. Coordination of effort by the administration created unity between the faculty and students.

To educate Kecoughtan's large student body of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors, a faculty of 95 members is necessary for small classes to encourage individual participation. Members of the faculty are vitally important to the life of KHS as club sponsors, coaches, and advisors in all extra-curricular activities. In the congenial atmosphere of the Main Office, the business affairs of Kecoughtan High School are conducted. In spite of ringing telephones and persistent students, the busy office staff functions efficiently.

In this section, you will see the members of Kecoughtan's faculty and administration at work and play, and here you will see the basis for the vibrant active personality of Kecoughtan High.

School boards and school superintendents everywhere must have tasks and problems in common. Certainly these boards make the big decisions and solve the problems arising from the operation of a school system. Also these dedicated citizens guide and plan for new methods and materials to improve the functioning of their schools.

Mr. C. Alton Lindsay served Hampton as the Superintendent of Schools. He worked closely and effectively with the members of the School Board. New schools were projected on drawing boards, plans for their construction were approved, and sites were selected. Each year has seen the necessity for providing more classrooms, employing more teachers, purchasing more equipment, and updating instructional techniques. The School Board, with the guidance and information provided by Mr. Lindsay, has served Hampton and its schools effectively in these ways.

All the School Board members keep in close touch with the schools. They visit the schools and attend school functions in official and unofficial guises. The public may attend meetings of the School Board and Hampton's citizens find that Mr. Lindsay and the School Board members are always willing to listen to their questions and furnish answers and solutions to their problems. Kecoughtan appreciates the efforts and work of Mr. Lindsay and the School Board members.

Considering architectural plans for a new school are School Board members, Mr. Lloyd H. Hansen, Mr. Harrol A. Brauer, Jr., Mr. Thomas regulated school activities.

The position as principal in a large secondary school entails much work and carries many responsibilities. A successful principal must be enthusiastic, interested, and dedicated to promoting the education, welfare, and happiness of the school personnel—faculty and students. Such an individual is Mr. Edward R. Szetela.

Decisions on administrative problems, curriculum plans, teacher conferences and guidance, and consultations with parents and students fill Mr. Szetela's working day. As busy as he is, the 1800 students and 95 faculty members know that Mr. Szetela will listen to them and help them with their problems. He is considered to be just not the principal but a friend. All of the Warriors agree that this year, with its growth, activity, and successes, became a memorable one through our principal's leadership and guidance.

Mr. Szetela came out of hiding when he knew the evaluation committee had left.

Who answered student questions about rules of conduct, school and class attendance, and fees? For the girls, the source of such information was Mrs. Eylese Latham, dean of girls. The boys sought answers from Mr. Fletcher Gray and Mr. Albert Smith.

These individuals did more than just answer questions, however. Mr. Smith was co-sponsor of the Tomahawk and SCA adviser. He also issued locks, collected student insurance premiums, and tabulated federal forms. Mr. Gray handled attendance and disciplinary problems involving the boys. Tallying the money from ticket sales to athletic events was part of Mr. Gray's work, and he also served on the PTA executive board. Problems of all kinds were frequently presented to Mrs. Latham by the girls. She was always willing to listen and to help.

Without these efficient and friendly people, Kecoughtan students would often have felt lost and bewildered. Certainly this year saw action in many areas and the assistant administrators did their part to see that Kecoughtan operated efficiently and effectively.

"You know my alarm clock doesn't work," pleads Mr. Gray, but Mrs. Latham will not accept any inadequate excuse, even from Mr. Gray!

files and records in order.

Student records, transcripts, diploma requests, ring orders, fees, dues, fines, funds of all kinds, report cards, IBM cards, and attendance records—somebody had to look after all of these. No one person could have managed all of this, so it is no wonder that the secretarial and clerical staff in the Main Office was kept busy.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cook served as secretary to Mr. Szetela, the principal, and as registrar. Through her hands passed the stacks of records, forms, schedules, inquiries, and data items that any school must have. Students and faculty members found Mrs. Cook always willing to listen, to furnish information, and to help solve problems.

The sponsors and treasurers of all school clubs, organizations, and publications soon became very well acquainted with Mrs. Anita McKinley. As the bookkeeper and recorder of all school finances and financial records, she was kept busy.

Mrs. Johnnie Tarpley and Mrs. Helen Atwell contributed to the efficient operation of the Main Office. They, too, answered questions and helped smooth paths for the students and faculty. All of these people did their jobs well and aided in making the '66-'67 year another active and successful one.

Mrs. Hastings hurriedly writes out a report as her anxious patients look on.

On a typical day at the Kecoughtan reservation, Mrs. Cook and her assistants will always be busily at work.

Mrs. Moore glances at some pamphlets during her spare time.

A larger student enrollment means that all the departments of a school must expand to meet increased demands for services. This year saw the Guidance Department grow a little more by having an additional member on a part-time basis.

This year saw other changes and Mrs. Doris Ennis, as chairman of the department, sparked the changes. College information was made available to the students, but they also found that they could get help in obtaining employment, advice on scheduling and diploma requirements, and solutions to personal problems.

The sophomores found Mrs. Evelyn Moore always ready to listen and to help. Mrs. Virginia Tyler was sought out by the juniors when they needed advice and assistance. All of the seniors came to know Mr. Gary Kilbourne very well. The new member of the department, Mrs. Martha Jane Woods, served in various capacities. These counselors proved to be not only advisors and guides to the students but also friends.

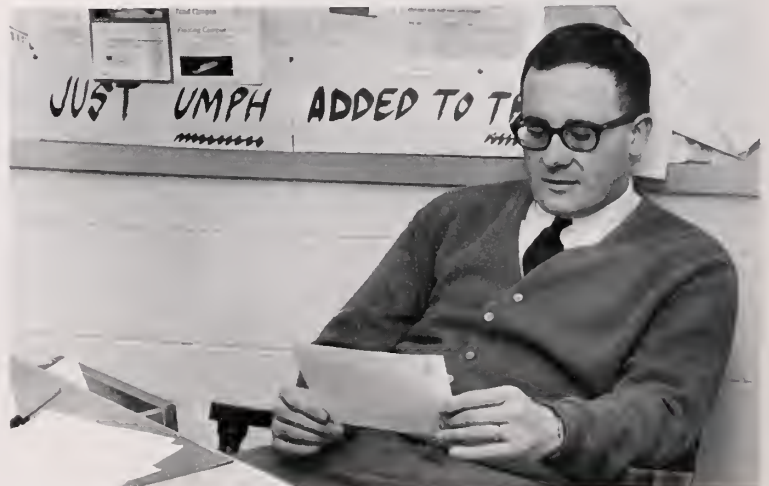

The administration of SCAT, STEP, PSAT, College Board examinations, and Merit Scholarship tests was a function of the guidance counselors.

by the Guidance and Library staffs.

The library serves as a refuge for students to escape the daily routine of class.

Each fall, when Kecoughtan's students return, they find that one departmental section has grown. More of everything—books, magazines, records, films, and audio-visual equipment—this seems to be a constant goal of the Library staff.

Miss Nancy Spain, Mrs. Ethel Brockley, and Mrs. Arnette King were kept busy with cataloguing, filing, and shelving the new items. They found time to train students as library aides, and to teach interested boys the operation of the various items of audio-visual equipment. A new unit for microfilming printed materials of all kinds was put into use. The operation of this was an added task, but its efficiency and its contribution to space-saving more than made up for any additional work it caused.

Throughout the year, the students and faculty members found the Library to be a pleasant place to work and to study. They also found the Library staff to be ready and glad to help at all times with research and reading problems.

Photographers persuade Miss Spain and Mrs. Brockley to take a break from the tedious job of cataloguing books to have their pictures taken.

Literature, grammar, and composition

For some, it is the bane of their existence. For others, it is a pleasure. For all, it is a necessity. English, on different levels and in every year, is an essential part of every Warrior's course of study. Grammar and literature are required elements in the Language Arts program. Elective courses in Speech, Drama, and Journalism are available to students as offerings in the Language Arts department.

to understand other cultures.

Modern Foreign language courses challenge students to venture into new fields of work and study. With the world seemingly growing smaller, people will need to know their new neighbors and to be able to communicate with them. Skills acquired through the study of a language include a knowledge of its grammatical structures and vocabulary and practice in using these.

Kecoughtan's Language department offered the students opportunities to learn French, Spanish, German or Latin. All of these are available for study for more than one year. Use of the modern language laboratory enabled the students to acquire correct pronunciation through hearing experts speak and through hearing themselves speak the language. Films and other visual aids helped present information about the geography, customs, and culture of the countries represented by these languages.

With Mrs. Carol Stallings as the chairman of the department providing leadership and guidance, the teachers organized and sponsored language clubs for interested students. These clubs gave their members fun and more opportunities to practice their new skills of another language.

Social Studies courses offer students information about the histories and governments of the United States and other nations. World Geography, World History, Personal Finance, International Relations, and United States Government compose the curriculum in social studies. Each student must gain four credits in social studies as a prerequisite for graduation.

A daily discussion of current events as a part of many history classes helped the students correlate their knowledge of the past with the events and issues of today. Such comprehension of past and present political systems added new and extended meanings to such topics as the war in Viet Nam, the Civil Rights issues, and proposed Constitutional amendments.

In the Fine Arts, the curriculum is made up of the courses in Home Economics, Art, and Music. Mr. Alex Villers was chairman of this department and served as adviser and mentor to the teachers in these fields. As a teacher, Mr. Villers emphasized the many phases of art: ceramics, mosaics, glass work, painting, and sculpture. Projects originated and completed by the students were displayed during the year in the showcases throughout the school.

Those students who enrolled in Home Economics classes learned the varied skills required to maintain and keep an attractive home and happy family life. Classes, both lecture and laboratory, were offered in foods, clothing preparation, and home management. Miss Catherine Thomas and Mrs. Elizabeth Wells were the instructors for these courses. Musical instruction, both instrumental and vocal, was the province of Mr. Melbourne Blackwell and Mrs. Jean Curtis. The Concert and Marching bands, under Mr. Blackwell's direction gave concerts, and took part in assemblies, parades, and pep rallies. Civic clubs, the faculty and the student body all profited from Mrs. Curtis' work with the A'Cappella Choir and the Choruses. Students from the bands and the vocal groups entered city and state competitions and displayed their skills and talents creditably.

for self-expression and creativity.

Training for future occupations through study and practice provided by the Industrial Arts courses proved to be a valuable experience for the students. The courses in drafting, wood shop, and metal shop all offered instruction in the theory of basic design and in the principles of basic construction.

"Thanks, and I made it myself" was a remark heard frequently from students in wood shop. Those engaged in learning the techniques of working with tools and various kinds of wood put the theory they learned into actual practice by making an article of furniture. Beautiful, useful, and valuable pieces of furniture were completed and became the students' prized possessions.

From the work in the metal shop classes the students gained much. They worked with various kinds of metals and learned the different techniques required for successfully molding, shaping, and working these. They, too, made articles from materials they practiced with, and the results were beautiful as well as practical.

Mr. David Rogers, Mr. James Wright, and Mr. Woodrow West provided the theoretical and practical instruction in the shop classes. Students in the drafting classes learned the skills necessary for drawing simple and more complicated architectural and engineering blueprints. This course curriculum helped them to prepare for future occupations and careers.

Where did all the Warriors with interests in science go this year? Those interested in chemistry sought out the Chemistry classes and others explored the fields of Physics, Physiology, and Biology. All of these courses, the Science department curriculum, were available to Kecoughtan students.

As co-chairmen of the department, Mrs. Gail Russell and Mr. Robert Cronau, provided leadership for the department's faculty members and instruction for advanced students. Up-to-date courses of study, modern equipment, well-equipped laboratories, and field trips proved to be valuable and satisfactory aids in giving a knowledge of the various sciences to the students. Opportunities to perform experiments reinforced the theory offered in lectures. Students enrolled in advanced classes could do individual and more involved experiments of an analytical or research nature.

Sophomores enrolled in the biology classes, juniors formed the personnel of the chemistry sections, and seniors were the mainstay of the physics and physiology classes. All students at Kecoughtan were able to pursue some study of a science if they wished to, and class enrollments showed that they took the opportunities offered.

Traditional and new math courses were offered as part of the curriculum at Kecoughtan this year. Generally speaking, math courses are not among the most popular ones offered, but many students found the electives in math to be very interesting and helpful. Part of the graduation requirement must be met with two years of mathematics. General math, Alegbra I. and geometry satisfy this requirement.

Completion of these basic courses allowed the students to take another year of algebra, trigonometry, math analysis, or calculus. Those juniors and seniors who successfully completed trigonometry could enroll in matrix algebra.

The teachers of these courses, under the leadership of Mr. Joel Perrell, used modern methods of teaching, visual aids, films, and television to make mathematics come alive for their students. At all levels of ability, some class in mathematics was provided as part of the curriculum.

Improvement in vitality and muscular co-ordination were gained through participation in softball, volleyball, and basketball games. All students, boys and girls, receive instruction in good health practices through classroom lectures and films. Because physical education is a required subject, the faculty members in this department always found their classes to be large. However, careful planning and good instruction made the classes profitable for all.

The Cafeteria and Custodial

During lunch, Mr. Szetela and Mr. Gray find time to congratulate Mrs. Wilkerson for her excellent supervision.

"Here they come!" said Mrs. Ruby Wilkerson, supervisor of the cafeteria at Kecoughtan. That was signal enough, for there came the hungry students, rushing to be first in line for lunch. At two lunch periods daily through the school year, the students found ample, appetizing food to satisfy their hunger. They could choose the plate lunch with milk, or select from the variety of a la carte items offered. The appetites of the Warriors might be large but all could be appeased by the variety of food offered daily.

Students in study halls before lunch were tantalized by the aromas coming from the kitchen. They could hear the staff preparing the dishes to be offered that day at lunch. When the time finally came, the students enjoyed the products the staff had so carefully and diligently prepared for them.

Mr. Croft makes a point of being the first one in the lunch line, because he enjoys mashed potatoes.

staffs served the school faithfully.

Bright colors, gleaming tile walls, and clean tile corridor floors all contribute to the Warrior Reservation's atmosphere of friendliness and cheerfulness. The Custodial Staff, under the direction and leadership of Mr. Fred Ridley, has the responsibility of maintaining the cleanliness and sanitation of the building. Modern cleaning equipment and efficient cleaning materials are in use daily to remove the dirt and grime tracked in by the Warriors.

Clean towels and clean uniforms for the various teams are a necessity. Big washing machines and dryers function to answer the demands for these items. Here again the custodians and maids supply the students' needs. Efficiency, cheerfulness, and readiness to serve—all are qualities and characteristics of the members of the Custodial Staff.

Features

"Real live" action is shown at Kecoughtan more often during extra-curricular school activities than in any other part of student life. Here the Warriors put aside books and release pent-up emotions and built-up spirit for KHS. In these various features students participated, listened and learned.

Special features constantly provide an incentive for action and accomplishment. The coordinated student-administrative effort develops a truly active KHS way of life. In Features, Warriors express themselves as a united group, inspiring greater effort from individuals and developing a sense of togetherness that will continue. In addition to scholastic endeavors in 1967, the Warriors honored achievements, expressed the themes of the seasons appropriately, learned to be active in self-government, voted for honorary and responsible positions, decorated, danced, and dramatized.

In this section you will see the outstanding features of the school year. Work and play times, serious and fun moments, triumphs and defeats, all from the first exciting event through the last of the year are represented here.

Band and majorettes perform under the watchful eyes of "Freddy the Crab".

Student presentations, cheerleaders, majorettes, and the marching band promoted enthusiasm and spirit at Kecoughtan pep rallies. The highlight at the rallies occurred when a part of Hampton's "Freddy the Crab" was confiscated and displayed. The Pep Club was responsible for presenting the skits. To increase the spirit at these assemblies, the Spirit Jug was presented to the class winning the "Battle Cry" yell. The Junior Class was triumphant throughout the year in the Spirit Jug competition.

David Richerson accepts the Spirit Jug as the juniors prove triumphant again.

The WGH Scholarship Contest and a debate between students from the College of William and Mary and George Washington University were two other assemblies held at KHS this past year. At academic and athletic awards assemblies the outstanding athletic and scholastic achievements of Kecoughtan students were recognized.

The cast of the Easter skit included Paul Supan and Carol Stern, kneeling, and Mary Leas, John Brown, Harry Trigg, and Ann Willis, standing.

Kecoughtan's first parade

Tearfully, 1966 Homecoming Queen Lani Chisman accepts congratulations from football captain Barry Strong.

Homecoming '66 at KHS was highlighted by its first Homecoming Parade. Downtown Hampton, on October 28, was the scene for this colorful and gay event. The fourteen floats entered in the parade were judged and the winning entries were announced during the half-time show at the game that same night. First place was awarded to the Music Department's entry, and the Publications' float claimed second place. Third place was earned by the DE Club float.

After the parade, the 1966 Homecoming Queen and her court were presented at pre-game ceremonies. SCA President John Brown crowned Lani Chisman as Queen. The senior attendant, Boo Sievert, was escorted by John Hill. David Richerson and Grant Cole were the escorts for Patsy McKee and Mary Wild, attendants from the junior and sophomore classes, respectively.

After the announcements of the winning floats, the Marching Band gave an original and special show. Recognition of the graduating members of the music department was the basis of the show.

Homecoming festivities came to an end with the Homecoming Dance, sponsored by the Senior Class, and attended by many students and some alumni.

Mary Chapman, Tina Convery, Mike Delaney, and Sara Partridge are shown in a scene from the fall play.

The Fall Play for '66, "Rebel Without a Cause", was presented on November 17 and 18. A new member of Kecoughtan's faculty this year, Miss Connie May, supervised and directed the production. The problems a teenage boy faces with his peers and his parents proved to be the theme of the play. Jim Stark, portrayed by Harry Trigg, was the teenage boy, and Sara Partridge, Bart Drummond, Dee Baber, and Pat Guinant had other lead roles.

The play was co-sponsored by the Drama Club and the Thespian Troupe 2847. Carol Coaker and Babs Paolino were the student directors of the play. The chairmen of the necessary committees and the stage crew were members of the Thespians and Drama Club. Pat Cuneen was responsible for providing the essential props and Frances Sulkevich saw that the cast was appropriately costumed. Excellent makeup for the actors and actresses came from the skilled hands of Nicki Snover and her committee members. Steve Morrison's leadership of his co-workers resulted in effective lighting. The good publicity was the result of Vicki Dangerfield's work, and Johnny Dangerfield and his assistants provided the scenery and the sets.

Seniors sponsored first beauty pageant at KHS.

May I have this dance?

Poise, beauty, smile, and overall appearance were the determining factors in the selection of the girl to hold the title of Miss KHS. Thirty contestants were chosen from the sixty entrants in Kecoughtan's first beauty pageant. On Friday, December 2, Miss KHS was selected from fifteen semifinalists.

The candidates appeared in both date and evening apparel before the judges. Miss Sydney Lewis, a senior, was named and crowned as Miss KHS by Mr. Edward Szetela, principal. First runner-up also proved to be a senior, Mary Joyce Knowles, and a sophomore, Ann Hundley, was named as the second runner-up.

Musical entertainment during intermission was provided by Miss Joanne Corbett and Miss Priscilla Hill. More entertainment came from a group of male students who attempted with a notable lack of success to be contestants in the pageant. Thanks to the contestants, the members of the Senior Class, and Mrs. Curtis, this evening, Kecoughtan's first beauty pageant, will be long remembered as a great success.

Anxiously awaiting the judges' decision, the 30 contestants in the Miss KHS contest chat casually backstage.

Christmas activities promoted holiday spirit.

Christmas spirit prevails throughout the school, even in the business-like atmosphere of the main office.

Kecoughtan's 1966 Christmas holiday was preceded by the usual traditional events. The corridors first took on a festive appearance as the classroom doors acquired their decorations for the annual contest. The Y-Teen Club, sponsors of this event, selected judges and awarded prizes. "Rudolph", on room E-1's door, earned first prize for that homeroom, and A-9 received the second place award. Third place honors went to room 325. In certain popular "congregating places", trees, covered with lights, tinsel, and other decorations, sprang up. The Library and the bookstore area grew trees but this was the first year for a tree to grow in the Main Office.

This year the usual Christmas assembly program proved to be not-so-usual. Christmas carols were sung by the Choruses, and they led the audience in carol singing. The SCA dance committee furnished the "difference" in the program. The members of this committee furnished an original skit, "Santa's Workshop", written by Mary Leas and Harry Trigg. The mirth evoked by this skit, coupled with the spirit aroused by the holiday decorations, certainly got the Warrior's holiday period off to a happy start.

The DE homeroom won the spirit banner for its likeness of Rudolph the Red-nose reindeer.

Clubs sponsored Mistletoe and Holly Ball.

"It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas" was the idea carried out as the theme of the 1966 Mistletoe and Holly Ball. This annual Christmas dance, co-sponsored by the Keyettes and the Key Club, was held in the school cafeteria.

Guests at the dance found it difficult to recognize the cafeteria, transformed as it was into a simulated ice rink. Crossing a wooden bridge and passing through a rustic gate gave the dancers access to the rink. Bob Vino's orchestra furnished the gay, lively, and at times sweet and nostalgic, music for dancing.

Trees, varicolored lights, holly, mistletoe, and Christmas figurines decorated the scene and reminded the guests of the season. A traditional "kissing ball", made of holly and mistletoe and suspended in the center of the rink, added to the decorations and contributed to the gaiety.

Mrs. Martha Jane Woods and Mr. Mike Riddick, sponsor of the clubs, helped the officers and committees plan and execute a beautiful and memorable Christmas dance for 1966.

"Now I've got you," exclaims Bob Garrett as he captures a surprised Vicki Walton under the mistletoe.

Fall Concert featured "I Am an American."

The Kecoughtan Choral Department started the year of action by presenting a fall concert entitled "The Spirit of 66." The program was highlighted by a dramatic piece, "I Am an American," sung by the A'Cappella Choir. This song featured Mrs. Jean Curtis as soloist and Kay Shaheen as narrator.

In December, the three choruses presented several selections which stimulated enthusiasm for the Christmas season. The Girls' Chorus featured Micki Nichols as soloist, singing "Jesu Bambino." The evening was concluded by the A'Cappella presentation of Handel's Messiah.

Bringing the year's presentation to a close, the Spring Concert in May included many show tunes, such as, "Carousel," "Sentimental Journey," and "Standing on the Corner."

The 1967 Warrior band presented three enjoyable concerts this year, one at the Christmas season, a winter concert, and a concert in the spring.

The Christmas concert given jointly with the Chorus offered the traditional tunes of the season. At the Winter concert, "Second Prelude" with solos by saxophonist Gordon Alloway, trumpeter Bruce Bagley, and oboist Karen King, was presented. The Spring concert, with a piano solo by Karen Sutterer from Warsaw Concerto, selections from "Porgy and Bess" sung by Mrs. Jean Curtis, and "Prelude and Fugue in E Minor" directed by Bruce Bagley, ended the year. These concerts enabled the students and faculty to appreciate the hours of study, practice, and work undergone by the band members.

Dances climaxed Homecoming and Twirp Week

Charlotte Hundley, Mary Joyce Knowles, Sandy Smithwick and Leah Whatley, members of 1967 Basketball Homecoming Court, anxiously await crowning and presentation ceremonies.

Greg Bennett, Patty Gaskell, Danny Susott and Debbie Seaver actively participated in the Twirp Week activities.

Special events such as Basketball Homecoming and Twirp Week add much to school activities. This year's Homecoming was unique. First, the Key Club and the Interact Club competed in a basketball game. Following this contest, the Senior girls defeated the Junior girls in a powder puff basketball game. The biggest part of the evening came after the game with the crowning of the basketball queen and the presentation of her court. Senior Mary Joyce Knowles, escorted by Larry Willis, reigned as queen with senior attendant Sandra Smithwick, escorted by Tommy Ames; junior attendant Charlotte Hundley, escorted by George Nichols; and the sophomore attendant Leah Whatley, escorted by Buddy Haughwout.

Twirp Week took place at KHS during the first week of May. At a dance, the cafeteria was turned into a scene representing Dogpatch. A dance contest and the judging of costumes ended the week's fun.

After the powder puff basketball game, the queen and her court were presented.

KHS Received An Excellent Evaluation Rating

Dr. R.G. Bass and Mr. Robert E. Williams discuss the many problems of evaluation committee work.

Electing the leaders of the SCA and classes is one of the most important responsibilities which the students have. In the fall, sophomores elect their officers after a platform assembly. The SCA elections committee, headed by chairman John Bennett, supervised this and all other elections.

In March, SCA elections were held. Over the Easter break, nominees were kept busy making posters for the halls and buttons for their supporters to wear. An assembly in the gymnasium ended the campaigns. Here candidates and their campaign managers presented their ideas for next year's SCA. The following day elections were held. In April, elections for the officers of the rising senior and junior classes were held, ending one busy year and signifying the start of another.

Fixing bulletin boards, cleaning the school, and being told to behave properly and have clean hands and faces were all part of the students' preparation for the State Board of Education's evaluation of the school. During the week of March 13-14, a team of teachers, principals, and administrative officials from various school systems in Virginia observed and evaluated the faculty and students of Kecoughtan High School in order to determine the school's accreditation. These persons observed all phases of school activity. They attended classes, went to SCA and club meetings, and made observations of student conduct in the halls, cafeteria, and library.

Before the arrival of the evaluation team, faculty members had prepared reports of each department's strengths and weaknesses. As hoped for, Kecoughtan received an excellent rating in all aspects.

Five Warriors received recognition

Judy McKinley, Senior Class chaplain, was this year's winner of the DAR good citizenship award.

This year, Kecoughtan students maintained their scholastic standards and won various honors and awards. Seniors selected by the faculty worked to compile a scrapbook of their achievements and activities. As a result of their efforts, four students placed in the Elks' Youth Leadership Contest, sponsored by the Elks Club. Again this year the DAR good citizenship award was presented. Kecoughtan also had five National Merit Scholarship finalists.

Juniors with high scholastic and leadership qualities who contributed their services willingly were selected by the faculty to represent Kecoughtan as delegates to Boys' and Girls' State. These representatives from Virginia met during the summer. Under the sponsorship of the American Legion, Boys' State was at the College of William and Mary and Girls' State at Radford College. Spring brought the announcement of the valedictorian and salutatorian.

Representing KHS at Girls' State were Sherry Allen, Susi Seaman, Linda Besecker, Brenda Bass, Charlotte Hundley, and Jan Sigler.

as National Merit Scholars.

Elks' Youth Leadership Contest winners were Karen Sutterer, Tina Convery, Terry Viets, and Eddie Bonniwell.

Top honors in the class of '67 went to John Bennett, valedictorian, and John Brown, salutatorian.

John Bennett, Stanley Gilbert, John Cann, Janet Volckhausen, and Patricia Hawks were National Merit Scholarship Finalists.

Kecoughtan's class of '68 selected "Wonderland by Night" as the theme for their Junior Ring Dance. In order to create a romantic atmosphere, the gymnasium was converted into a garden, with a patio, a bubbling fountain, white lawn furniture, and a white picket fence. The cafeteria, decorated in the same theme, continued the atmosphere and provided a place for serving refreshments. The band, Charlie McClendon and the Magnificents, seated in a flower-adorned band stand, played for this gala affair.

Mrs. Ann Crouch and Miss Ruth Hill, class sponsors, and Miss Diane Guthmiller, chairman, were honored at the dance. Mrs. Crouch was presented with a silver serving dish and both Miss Hill and Diane were presented with red roses.

The Ring Dance was a successful event and proved to be one of the highlights for the Junior Class to remember always.

A ballet, a hula, a jazz dance, songs, and piano recitals were among the acts performed in the Senior Class Talent Show held on March 17. Senior Harry Trigg emceed the show. Judges were Brigadier General Gualas, Mr. Hicks, and Mrs. Wehunt. While the judges were evaluating the contestants, Carl Cole entertained by playing the guitar and singing. Finally the winning acts were announced, and the prizes were awarded. Senior Blanton McLean's "Revolutionary Etude" by Chopin won first place honors. Second place honors went to Jenny Kesler, also a senior, for her hula dance. Pam Neely, a junior who sang "People", won third prize.

Seniors presented "January Thaw."

Tina Convery and Nicki Snover, members of the cast of January Thaw, find time to eat and converse behind the scenes.

The Class Play "January Thaw" was one of the many exciting activities engaged in by the Seniors in the spring of 1967. The setting of the play was the Rockwood's old family home in Connecticut. This house had been bought by the Gage family, and many comical incidents occurred when the Rockwoods reappeared after a six-year absence. The audience was most receptive and thoroughly enjoyed the hilarious results as the two families attempted to live together. The leading roles of Mr. and Mrs. Gage were portrayed by Pat Guiant and Cindy Crumlish, respectively, with all other parts and the backstage work handled by seniors. The roles were well-acted, and all three acts proved to be very entertaining.

Under the guidance of Tina Convery and Pat Guiant, co-chairmen, and with the help of sponsors Mrs. Curtis and Miss Lushinsky, this dramatic production helped to pay for senior caps and gowns.

On the evening of May 19, 1967, the Senior Class of Kecoughtan High School held its traditional spring prom. The theme of "Some Enchanted Evening" was carried out in a tropical island setting with bamboo trees, exotic flowers, grass huts, a fountain, and a volcano. In the cafeteria, where refreshments were served, an oasis-like atmosphere prevailed with authentic palm trees.

The class sponsors, Mrs. Jean Curtis and Mrs. Elizabeth Cook, supervised the organization of the dance, and Mary Joyce Knowles headed the Prom Committee for 1967. During the evening, recognition was given to these people for the time they spent working to make the Senior Prom a memorable occasion for the class of '67.

Highlighting the dance was the presentation of the princesses and princes from each homeroom and the announcement of the Prom King and Queen, John Hill and Emily Simpson. The music by the Crystals gave the Seniors and their dates a truly "Enchanted Evening".

The class prophets, Phil Grant and Jim Manning, read the 1972 Olympic results.

Sad thoughts and humorous memories were the mixed emotions experienced by seniors at the 1967 version of Class Night, Friday, May 26. The reading of the Class Poem by Nancy Strayer and presentation of the Class Gift, a glass-encased activities board, by Kay Shaheen and Sandra Smithwick provided the serious side of the program. The Last Will and Testament, the Class Prophecy, and the skit depicting the Class History added a light touch to the evening's activities. The 1972 Olympics, in which Kecoughtan students excelled in all sports, was the setting for the Prophecy. The skit of the Class History reviewed outstanding events such as the sophomore paper drive, the Junior Ring Dance, and the first Miss KHS pageant. Presentation of the members of the Hall of Fame ended the Class History.

With Gloria Vitale and Don Klinger as co-chairmen and Mrs. Jean Curtis and Mrs. Elizabeth Cook as sponsors, the seniors, dressed in traditional white dresses and dark suits, produced an excellent class night program which closed with the Senior Class singing the Alma Mater.

The Miss KHS contest was reviewed in the class night skit with a variety of "beautiful" contestants including Ed Briley, Barry Strong, Doug Coenen, Brian Smith, and Larry Willis.

Baccalaureate services for the 1967 graduating class were held Sunday, June 4, in the auditorium. Marilyn Rexrode played the processional as the seniors, dressed in caps and gowns, gathered as a class for the last time before graduation. Reverend Eugene Rawlings gave the Invocation after which there was a scripture reading by Reverend Louie Andrews. Kecoughtan's A'Cappella Choir sang two selections during the program and the choral benediction at the end. Reverend George Coaker addressed the graduating seniors and Father Eugene Leonard gave the Benediction. As a prelude to their final week in high school, the Baccalaureate service provided inspiration to each senior present.

Before an audience of proud parents, interested community members, and the faculty, the 500 seniors of the third graduating class of Kecoughtan High School received their diplomas on June 8, 1967. Commencement exercises were held on the lawn. The music of the Warrior band added to the solemn mood of the class as they assembled. Colonel Herman Benner gave the invocation and Eddie Bonniwell, class president, spoke. The salutatorian, John Brown, and John Bennett, valedictorian, gave their addresses before the presentation of the diplomas. Awards and scholarships were announced by Mr. Szetela and Mr. C. Alton Lindsay presented the diplomas. A benediction by Rabbi Allen Mirvis concluded the ceremonies.

The faculty recognizes outstanding

John M. Bennett

John S. Brown

John Bennett, scholar and dedicated worker, has merited recognition as an outstanding Warrior. From his early school years, John demonstrated the qualities of loyalty, cooperation, and consideration for all. His scholastic ability earned him membership in the National Honor Society and made him Valedictorian of the Class of '67. The Hampton Roads Jaycees presented him with the Junior Distinguished Service Award for the Peninsula. High academic honors for John were balanced by his participation in basketball. Loyalty to friends and school, dependability, cooperation with faculty, administration, and community leaders, a keen sense of responsibility, and a dedication to service for others are the qualities that merited this faculty recognition of and respect for John M. Bennett.

John Brown, president of the SCA and National Merit Scholarship winner, has been a leader through his school years. His enthusiasm and leadership sparked many successful school projects. As a scholar his achievements were recognized by membership in the National Honor Society and the presentation of an Army ROTC Scholarship. John received the Elizabeth Cook Award as the most outstanding senior in the Class of '67. His athletic abilities were demonstrated through his earning letters in tennis, cross country and track. As Salutatorian of his class he showed another facet of his talents. Wit, personality, academic talent, cooperation, dependability, a keen sense of responsibility, and willing service made John Brown outstanding in the eyes of the faculty.

Mary J. Knowles

Mary J. Knowles possesses the qualities of leadership, personality, and service that the faculty seeks to recognize and honor. As Chairman of the Senior Prom she organized and led her fellow students to produce a beautiful and memorable event. She served just as capably on the Junior Ring Dance Committee. Mary Joyce was a representative to Girls' State. In the community, she served in her church as a Sunday School teacher. Her friendliness and beauty were recognized by her election as a Basketball Queen Attendant for two years. Membership and active participation in the Pep Club and SCA gave Mary Joyce outlets for her enthusiasm and loyal support of Kecoughtan. A willingness to help and serve, personality, beauty, friendliness, dependability, and leadership qualities combined to merit this recognition of Mary Joyce Knowles by the faculty.

Stanley K. Gilbert, athlete and scholar, has earned recognition for himself and Kecoughtan during his years as a student. His academic talents and interests were recognized through appointment as a delegate to the Virginia Engineering and Science Symposium, and to the National Youth Conference on the Atom. He was a winner of a National Merit Scholarship and was president of the National Honor Society for '66-'67. He participated actively in church and community groups. Letters were earned by his performances in cross country and track. His abilities as a leader and worker were demonstrated by his services on three major projects: Miss KHS, the Senior Class Play, and the Senior Prom. Stanley's service to his fellow students was shown further through his participation in the NHS tutorial program. Dedication to academic excellence, participation in athletics, service to the school and community; these are the qualities that merited faculty recognition for Stanley Gilbert.

Stanley K. Gilbert

Linda J. Popp

Linda J. Popp, member of the TOMAHAWK staff and secretary of the Keyettes, has gained this faculty recognition. Her activities on the Ring Dance Committee and the SCA Elections Committee contributed to the success of these events. As president of the French Club, Linda encouraged and led the group in successful projects. Her academic talents were not neglected and led to membership in the National Honor Society. The Keyettes chose her as secretary and she served the organization faithfully and efficiently. Certainly much of the success of the '67 TOMAHAWK and '67 TORCH came from Linda's work as a staff member. A quiet, unassuming manner, personality, cooperation, dependability, enthusiasm, and loyalty are those traits possessed by Linda J. Popp and are so recognized by the faculty.

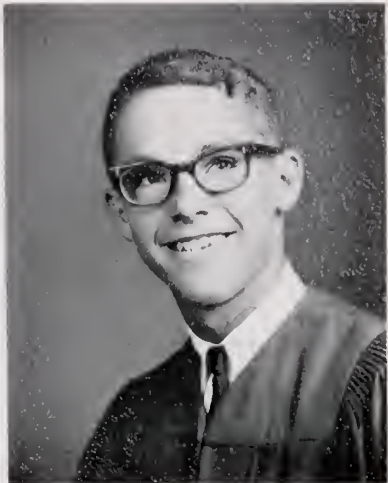

efforts and achievements.

Judith A. McKinley has demonstrated her possession of those qualities of academic ability, leadership, and service considered outstanding by the faculty. Her fellow students recognized these attributes also as they elected her chaplain of the Junior and Senior Classes. She served her school capably and effectively as Chairman of the PTA and Guidance Committee. She was responsible as chairman for organizing and producing a successful Senior Talent Show. Her talent in music earned her membership in the All-Regional Chorus and she contributed greatly to the success of the A'Cappella Choir. As a representative to Girls' State, and to the Hampten Council, Judy kept the name of Kecoughtan before the community. Her other services saw Judy active in her church and in the Junior Red Cross. As vice-president of the Keyettes, Judy worked and served faithfully and well. The DAR Good Citizenship Award was further testimony of the qualities of friendliness, personality, responsibility, service, cooperation, and dedication that Judy possesses and shows.

Judith A. McKinley

Philip S. Grant has merited recognition by the faculty. His participation in sports earned letters for him in track, cross country, and tennis. Membership in Interact gave him opportunities to show his leadership talents and enabled him to help his fellow students and the school. In the community, he was active in his church groups. Through his classes he demonstrated why membership in the National Honor Society and the Math Honor Society came his way. His work as a member of the TORCH staff gave him membership in Quill and Scroll. The Pep Club benefited from his enthusiasm and support. A quiet and unassuming personality, a sense of responsibility, dependability, loyalty, and trustworthiness are characteristics of Phil Grant. For these traits and for his services the faculty honors Phil.

Gloria M. Vitale, scholar and outstanding Warrior, has merited the recognition of the faculty for her varied and numerous achievements. Whether it was as chairman of the SCA Scrapbook and Reports Committee or as the historian of the Keyettes, we saw Gloria doing an excellent job. She performed assigned tasks efficiently and went beyond assignments to do things that she saw needed to be done. As a student assistant she served the faculty and administration efficiently and cheerfully. She was a loyal Keyette and attended Girls' State. For the TRIBAL TALES and the local paper, Gloria was a dependable and talented reporter. Class night of '67 was further evidence of Gloria's originality and talent as she was co-chairman for this event. A keen sense of responsibility, enthusiasm, leadership, academic talent, cooperation, and a willingness to serve are the qualities possessed by Gloria Vitale to the extent that the faculty gives her recognition.

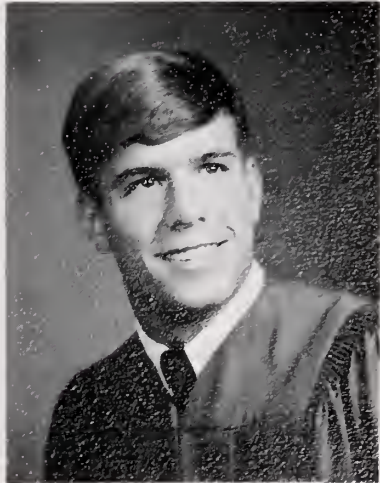

Gloria M. Vitale

Janet R. Volckhausen, outstanding writer and student, possesses the characteristics the faculty feels deserve recognition. Her creative writing talent and ability to organize material were noteworthy in her performance as co-editor of TRIBAL TALES. Her enthusiasm for school projects and school service showed in her whole-hearted support of all activities involving Kecoughtan. Academic ability and talent made her a member of the National Honor Society and a National Merit Scholarship Semi-finalist. Interest in history and writing gained her first place awards in several essay contests. In the community she showed interests and talents by performing creditably in church activities and in the Youth String Orchestra. Mature interest in national and local affairs, enthusiasm, originality, creativity, dedication to service, scholarship, and personality earned Janet R. Volckhausen this faculty recognition.

Janet R. Volckhausen

John E. Hill, athlete and capable student, is honored by the faculty. He led the Junior Class successfully and enthusiastically as its president. As a representative of Kecoughtan, John attended Boys' State and was the school's delegate to the SCA Federation. Athletic prowess earned for him positions on the basketball and baseball teams. He sparked the teams to many victories and earned letters in these sports. John was an active member of the Varsity Club and contributed much to its projects and activities. Numerous committees and projects benefited from John's leadership and enthusiastic support. Personality, friendliness, a sincere desire to serve, and cooperation are the qualities that made John outstanding and that dictated the faculty's recognition of him.

Activities

At Kecoughtan High School, the many clubs and organizations provide for the students' avocational preferences and for further pursuit of their special interests. Each club emphasizes a certain field of study or talent, attempting to further familiarize them with that field through their extracurricular activities.

At KHS there are clubs to meet any and all interests: honorary societies, language clubs, technical groups, community-service groups, scholastic clubs, and others.

Each club is represented on the Inter-Club Council, to promote coordination of ideas. Here the club members realize their aims and seek to reach them. This council keeps a record of the various activities and encourages greater accomplishments.

In this section, the coordinated Activities of Kecoughtan's many clubs are recorded and their members and sponsors recognized.

KHS SCA experienced a year

Busy SCA officers Virginia Robertson, Terry Viets, Boo Sievert, John Brown, and Patsy McKee stop working long enough to have a picture taken.

There was not an activity which was more important than the Student Co-operative Association. Representing the student view was only one of the many varied tasks. Sponsored by Mr. Albert Smith and led by President John Brown, Vice-president Terry Viets, Secretary Boo Sievert, Treasurer Virginia Robertson, and Chaplain Patsy McKee, the SCA had charge of many school events. Special occasions such as the Homecoming Parade, Orientation, and the State Evaluation were planned with the help of the SCA. There were active committees for elections, dances, assemblies, reports, and other areas. The committee chairmen, SCA officers, and class presidents composed the Executive Board and planned the major events.

To keep in touch with the student body, SCA homeroom representatives held meetings every other week on Wednesdays. Each homeroom had a representative and an alternate. These people discussed problems which arose concerning school events and reported the ideas of their homeroom membership at the meetings.

There were many small time-consuming tasks performed by the SCA, as well as planning for special events. All were necessary for proper school functioning. Kecoughtan was proud of their fine SCA and of all the people who worked hard to insure an active, worthwhile school year.

Helping to co-ordinate the activities and projects of Kecoughtan's many and various clubs was the chief job of the Inter-Club Council. This year every club sent a representative to the meetings. This person was responsible for explaining his club's views on school events, money-making projects, rules which concerned clubs and other functions involving his club. Being Inter-Club Council president was one of the many tasks of the SCA Vice-president, Terry Viets. Janet Cryer aided him as vice-president-secretary.

Through the Inter-Club Council, club projects and activities, as well as meetings, were scheduled and checked with the administration. The Inter-Club Council also provided a calendar of events for each month and kept a copy of each club's constitution. This year all clubs were given an opportunity to raise money through the Inter-Club Council by selling candy. Many thanks were owed to the people who worked hard this year to insure the clubs' smooth functioning.

NHS bookstore financed projects.

Jeannie Tharpe and Jennie Jacobs look over the selection of books in the Honor Society bookstore.

The highest academic honor a student can receive in high school is induction into the National Honor Society. In addition to having a 3.5 average, the members must exemplify the society's four ideals, scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Induction for new members was held at an assembly in May.

The Honor Society members find time for more than studying, however. This year they conducted a tutoring service for those students needing help. A paperback bookstore was also one of the society's projects. This year it was located in 231-M and was open before school and during both lunch periods. The bookstore sold all types of novels, non-fiction, and review books.

Led by Stanley Gilbert, president; Rob Cramer, vice-president; Sabina Joe, secretary-treasurer; Cindy Crumlish, parliamentarian, and sponsor Mr. Alexander Villers, the members attended district conventions in Richmond and Newport News to close their active, busy year.

Promoting interest in all phases of biology was the main purpose of the Kecoughtan Biological Society, open to any student having completed a semester of biology with a "B" average or better. A trip to the Junior Nature Museum and Planetarium and a field trip to collect fossils were some of the more educational of the club's projects. The dissection of a large laboratory specimen as an activity gave the club members further experience in laboratory techniques and provided an additional learning experience.

Sponsored by Miss Martha Mitchell and led by Sharon Morris, president; Tom Tucker, vice-president; Mary Oldershaw, secretary; and Larry Becker, treasurer, the club held bake sales, car washes, and a candy drive to earn funds. These financed the float in the Homecoming Parade and a trip to Seashore State Park at Virginia Beach. All of the members felt that they achieved two goals, becoming better acquainted and learning more about biology.

Field trips, many and varied, were a large part of the Biology Club's activities this year. Under the leadership of Lorraine Cropp, president; Carol Parker, vice-president; Nancy Leas, secretary; Jim Rogers, treasurer; and Debbie Morgan, ICC representative, the club, although small, had a most active year. Car washes and bake sales were held to raise money for field trips. Films on different animals and plants were shown at meetings. The club was open to any student with an interest in biology.

Sponsored by Mrs. Linda Hays, the club visited the recently opened Junior Nature Museum and Planetarium. Two trips requiring more energy on the part of the members were collecting marine specimens and going bird banding. The club completed their year with a trip to the Norfolk Zoo and Norfolk Botanical Gardens.

Math, International Relations studied by clubs.

A new club, the Kecoughtan Mathematical Honor Society, was started to recognize students who have an active interest and are outstanding in mathematics. Members must have completed two years of algebra and one year of geometry with at least a "B" average. A math tutoring service was established as well as a plan for society members to substitute when math teachers were absent.

The club worked problems at one of their meetings in preparation for the National Math Test in March which the club sponsored. Math projects were presented by various students on topics such as gravity and topology. A guest speaker from the University of Richmond highlighted the year. Providing impetus for the club's establishment and also serving as officers this year were Dennis McVicker, president; Larry Becker, vice-president; David Wilderman, corresponding secretary; Burt Saunders, treasurer; and Adrian Stilson, parliamentarian.

Although not formed until March, the International Relations Club was nevertheless very active. Formed to promote interest in international relations at Kecoughtan and to help the members learn more about foreign policy and other phases of the subject, the club had guest speakers and films to help achieve their goals.

Sponsored by Miss Ronda Ellis and led by Donnie Williams, president; Bill Freeman, vice-president; Jennie Jacobs, secretary-treasurer; and Jack Dyke, ICC representative, the club also discussed ways for Kecoughtan to obtain a foreign exchange student. Writing and adopting a constitution were important organizational tasks of the club. Among the most interesting programs of the year was one on Thailand and on religion in Southeast Asia by Chaplain Wood from Fort Monroe. All of the members enjoyed the meetings while learning more about other countries and our relations with them.

Quill and Scroll initiated 36 in the spring.

Everyone is sitting attentively and listening to the guest speaker during the induction of new Quill and Scroll members.

Outstanding and efficient staff members from all the school publications and the radio program compose the membership of Quill and Scroll, a national honorary journalism society. Tribal Tales, Torch, Tomahawk, and Warrior Tom-Tom all furnish students with recognized abilities and achievements. These, after first semester grades were evaluated, became the new members of Quill and Scroll.

As sponsors, Mrs. Joel Grimm and Mrs. Elizabeth Woodard, had thirteen members of Quill and Scroll to work with at the start of the year. An election of officers gave Irene Wild the presidency and Nancy Strayer the office of secretary-treasurer. The group did not undertake any extensive projects but all continued to work efficiently and enthusiastically on the school publications. In March new members were elected and initiated. Most of this year's members graduated but they left a legacy of interest and capability in the hands of the initiates of '67.

Carol Coaker, Janet Volckhausen, Nancy Strayer, Janet Cryer, Joy Minor, Jo Hammett, Blanton McLean, Jim Tuttle, Phil Grant, Vicki Dangerfield were the nucleus of the '66-'67 Q and S.

Warrior Tom-Tom discussed the draft and fads.

Every Saturday morning at 10:40 over radio station WVEC, talented Warriors recap noteworthy KHS events. The students receive practical experience in writing, public speaking, and radio technique by participating in this program. All staff members must be taking either journalism or speech. Directed by Mrs. Joel Grimm and Miss Carole Lushinsky, the three staffs rotate production chores as each presentation requires about three weeks' preparation. Special holiday programs are presented, and student opinion on important topics of public interest is aired. There have been many features this year, such as programs on the draft and interviews with Kecoughtan's National Merit Scholarship finalists. These Saturday morning programs are not all entirely serious and the staffs lighten their time on the air with comments and talk about amusing local events and incidents.

Program problems engross Valorie Gerrity, Anita Seay, Nancy Strayer, and Dee Baber. Mike Wolsh and Dave Gibson supervise.

Brian Smith, Julie McCabe, and Cindy Andres seem amused, but Terry Ulsh, Harry Trigg, and Gary Bolken do not.

Debbie Dodson, Kay Kernell, Tommy Gear, Slade Blanchard, Cindy Posey, and Ralph Campbell take their work seriously.

Enthusiastic reporters scouted

Kathy Mitchell and Bobbi Dunton work on posters for advertising.

Cries of "I want one, I want one" could be heard in the halls as the Tribal Tales staff members urged students to buy copies of the school newspaper. The staff, led by Janet Volckhausen and Joy Minor, co-editors, worked hard to publish ten issues this year. Rob Cramer, Bobbi Dunton, Dennis Trask, Elaine Allen, and Larry Willis all held responsible positions on the staff and helped to make each issue informative and entertaining. Wanda Buck, business manager, and Tom Wiscarson, advertising manager, helped with financial problems, especially with obtaining advertisements and increasing circulation.

The staff members were journalism students, and the paper gave them a chance to put into practice what they had learned in class. Interesting features, informative articles, and accounts of all student activities and honors from academics to beauty queens to sports made every issue of Tribal Tales much sought-after. Many issues were expanded this year, being six and eight pages in length. Editorials, current events, articles, and the column, "Top of the Totem", which featured two outstanding students, one boy and one girl, completed each issue. Holidays were featured by special issues of Tribal Tales and the final issue of the year, as is now traditional, spotlighted the Class of '67 and their year of action.

The '67 Tomahawk stressed

It seems that all wanted to watch the birdie: so Glenna Flynn, Brenda Bass, Larry Hewitt, Mary Reid, Janet Cryer, and Mary Lee Hogge did just that.

"Cheese" must have been the word. Certainly Jennie Jacobs, Charlotte Hundley, Mary Convery, Linda Popp, Debbie Carter, and Carol Harris seem to be saying just that.

student and school activities.

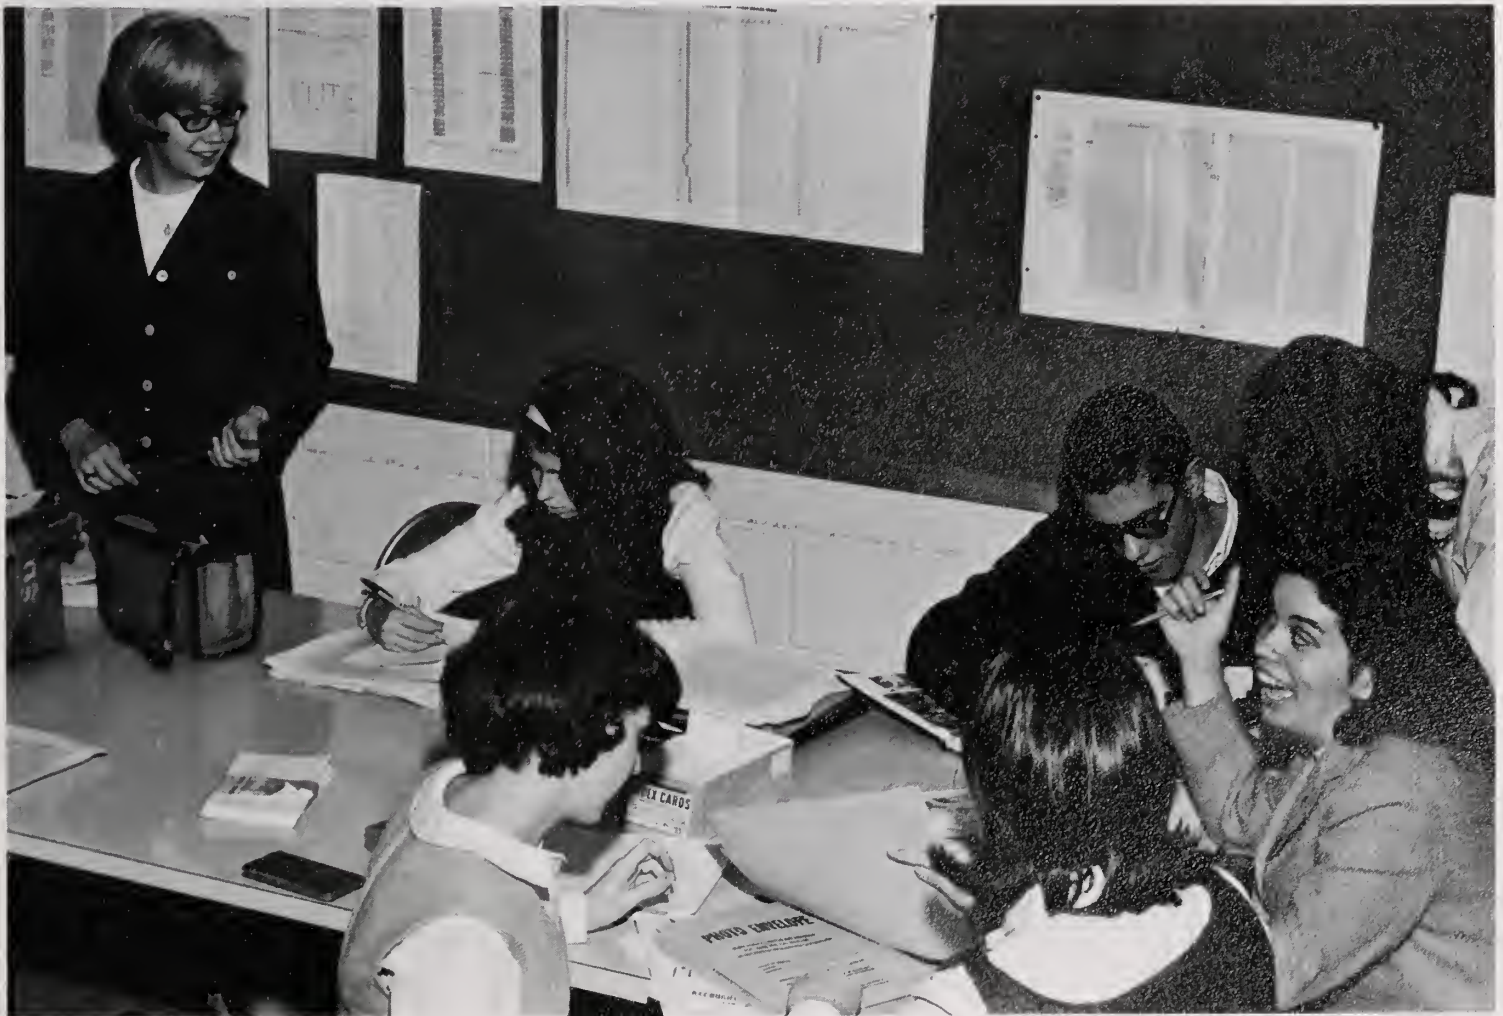

Happy and sad occasions, extraordinary and ordinary people, serious and comic events—all of these make up the modern high school yearbook. Aided by Mrs. Elizabeth Woodard and Mr. Albert Smith, the staff worked every sixth period to produce the fourth edition of Kecoughtan's yearbook—Tomahawk. For most of the staff, the work required was strange and seemed to be difficult at first. Janet Cryer, editor, was familiar with the work requirements and was always ready and willing to offer suggestions, to instruct, to encourage, to criticize, and to help the staff. Soon the entire staff was drawing layouts, writing copy, identifying and selecting pictures, debating headline wording, indexing names, and typing as if they were veterans at this.

For their work and efforts, some of the staff attended the Southern Interscholastic Press Association convention at Lexington, Virginia. Others represented the Tomahawk at yearbook conferences in Richmond and Hopewell.

The staff members agree that producing a yearbook is both enjoyable and difficult. They feel, however, that they are rewarded for their efforts when they see the pleasure the completed book gives to all the Warriors.

Energetic photographers caught all activities.

Debbie Carter and Carol Harris know some problems can't be laughed off.

Because a yearbook is a pictorial history of the school year, the photographers' contributions are indispensable. Hurrying busily to cover all the school events, the photographers often found themselves not just recording the action but in the midst of it. They were the boys with cameras around their necks, flash-bulbs in their hands, and stooping on one knee or standing precariously on a chair to get that unusual shot or memorable moment. Through the skills and efforts of Tommy Tucker, Pat Cullis, Phil Caldwell, Paul Supan, Nancy Myers, Terry Gunnels, and Pat Guiant, head, came the pictures for '67—Year of Action.

Annual Staff members, Charlotte Hundley, Debbie Carter, Carol Harris, Jennie Jacobs, and Brenda Bass struggle to meet a deadline.

Torch conducted a successful subscription drive.

Mrs. Evelyn Hayes gives advice to Irene Wild, editor, Tina Fischer, and Sherrill Winston.

Traits of good students are also the traits of those responsible for issuing the Torch, Kecoughtan's literary magazine. These students, led by Irene Wild, editor, compiled an excellent collection of short stories, poetry, and essays, written and illustrated by students. Rita Holdren, as assistant editor, had help from section editors Phil Grant, poetry; Blanton McLean, essay; Vicki Dangerfield, art; and Nancy Strayer, short story. Debbie Dobson, circulation manager, and Jim Tuttle, business manager, tackled the problem of selling enough issues to go to print. Miss Mary Anne McDearmon, Miss Priscilla Loomis, and Mrs. Evelyn Hayes supplied guidance and leadership for this third issue of Torch.

To meet the March deadline necessary for spring publication and distribution, the students started early with a subscription campaign. They also held a campaign for patrons who received their names on a special patron page in the book. The staff spent time and energy in encouraging all students to write for and submit selections to Torch for publication. The high quality of the magazine reflected the enthusiastic, dedicated work of the staff.

Helping students learn more about the various fields of drama production and giving all students, experienced and inexperienced, a chance to participate in productions were the purposes of the Drama Club. Led by Tina Convery, president, the club worked hard to produce the fall play, "Rebel Without A Cause". This play provided students with opportunities to work backstage with props, scenery, and make-up as well as on the stage. Sponsored by Miss May, and helped by Gordon Alloway, vice-president; Cindy Crumlish, secretary; and Cindy Andres, treasurer, many club members prepared various skits and scenes for their drama class. In addition the club also presented children's plays at some of the local elementary schools.

performed in school productions.

Miss Connie May sponsored the Thespians, the Kecoughtan drama honor society, during its third year of existence. This society recognizes students who have been outstanding either on the stage or as part of the backstage crew or by directing. The officers of the club this year have been: Carol Coaker, president; Bob Garrett, vice-president; Vicki Dangerfield, secretary; and Frances Sulkevich, treasurer.

The club helped produce "Rebel Without A Cause", the fall play, and the senior members along with other seniors participated in the senior class play "January Thaw". A banquet was held on May 5 to end the year at which awards were made to outstanding Thespians.

New members of Thespians anxiously await the start of induction ceremonies.

The majorettes added beauty

One of the most hard working and school-spirited organizations in our school is the Kecoughtan High School Band. The year of 1966-1967 has truly been a year of action for the band. Two outstanding members, Karen Sutterer and Bruce Bagley, were designated to attend All-State Band, a very high honor for any band member. The band added inspiration and sparkle to pep assemblies and to half-time ceremonies at football games. The band has been active both in concerts and in parades. Especially successful this year were the Christmas and Spring concerts. Constantly practicing to perfect both their concert presentations and their marching precision, the band members, under the direction of Mr. Melbourne Blackwell, can feel a real sense of accomplishment and satisfaction in that they have represented Kecoughtan well.

Adding interest and variety to the band is one of the functions of majorettes. This year the girls worked hard to prepare routines for football games, parades, and concerts. The majorettes, with the band, sparked school spirit at pep rallies with many catchy routines. At football games, with the cheerleaders, they furnished inspiration for school spirit.

Headed by Patti Perviance, much time was spent practicing routines and perfecting new techniques. These long hours were rewarded as the girls won second place in a contest at Frederick College and third place in a contest in Richmond. For the entire year, the majorettes, sponsored by Miss Ronda Ellis and Mrs. Jean Curtis, worked diligently so that they would be a source of pride to Kecoughtan.

Sharon Boone, Linda Bridgman, Patti Perviance, Sharon Morris, and Kathy Price are practicing one of their "Indian type" routines.

The KHS Choral Department, directed by Mrs. Jean Curtis, provided many types of music this year. The A'Cappella Choir, Boys' Chorus, and Girls' Chorus started the year of action with a fall concert. Other performances included singing at school assemblies, women's clubs, and other schools. In April at the Spring Concert, music awards were presented to outstanding musicians. Sharon McDaniel received the Girls' Chorus award and Mike Lowell, the Boys' Chorus one. The A'Cappella honored Priscilla Hill as most outstanding senior member, Susan Haraway as best soprano, Judy McKinley as best alto, Steve Richerson as best tenor, and Pat Guiant as best bass. Thirty-two members of the Choir were in the All Regional Chorus activities, and five attended the All State Chorus in Charlottesville in April.

Spirited students purchased KHS balloons.

Formed to promote school spirit and increase attendance and enthusiasm at games, the Pep Club was very active this year. They helped decorate the goal posts before football games and kept the halls filled with signs supporting our various teams. One unusual and popular project this year was the selling of green balloons. The Pep Club also entered a float in the Homecoming Parade.

Sponsored by Miss Patricia Thompson and Miss Betty Parker and led by Johnna Stafford, president; Charlotte Hundley, vice-president; Mary Fortune, secretary; and Barbara Mingee, treasurer, the club kept up school spirit at both home and away games. Among the most enjoyable contributions of the Pep Club were the lively skits presented at pep rallies. The club completed this year by selling candy to provide funds for activities at the beginning of next year.

Chess Club beat Hampton!

Members of the chess team Mike Flippin, Kurt Ebersole, John Ensor, Al Nash, and Robert Beyma enjoy themselves while they practice and plan strategy to beat Hampton.

Do the words checkmate, king, knight, and pawn sound familiar? They do to the members of Kecoughtan's Chess Club. Led by John Ensor, president; Kurt Ebersole, vice-president; Al Nash, secretary-treasurer; and Barry Bartley, Inter-Club Council representative, the club promoted interest in chess at Kecoughtan. Much time was spent practicing chess with other club members and receiving helpful instruction and tips from other chess players, including sponsors Mr. Robert Cronau and Mr. Thomas Millen. The club also engaged in inter-school competition with other peninsula high schools. One big win this year was a victory over Hampton High. After regular season play, the club participated in the Peninsula District Tournament. To help promote interest in chess at Kecoughtan and provide people with an opportunity to observe how chess is played, a school-wide tournament was held in the spring which was very successful.

Seated: Elizabeth Patterson, Arun Kumar, Kurt Ebersole, Al Nash, Terry Stiles. Standing: Barry Bartley, Dwight Whipple, Bruce Church, Robert Beyma, William Hardrath, John Ensor, Mike Flippin.

Debate Team won district championship.

Debating is one of the oldest forms of academic competition. Kecoughtan's team, under the direction of Mr. Earl Bell, added something new to their preparation this year. Preparation for a debate requires many hours of research for gathering necessary information and much time devoted to practice debates. To give the team additional time for research and practice, the sixth period was reserved for debate.

The team entered debate tournaments at Warwick, Peninsula Catholic, and Norfolk Academy. Participation in the Johns Hopkins University Tournament was another engagement of the team. Mike Quillian and Don Klinger, affirmative, and James Meredith and Robert Holland, negative, represented Kecoughtan as a team. They compiled an excellent record of which Kecoughtan is certainly proud. Kecoughtan won the district tournament and the negative team took first place, thus gaining a place as competitors in the state meet at Charlottesville. Their enthusiasm and hard work were rewarded with many honors in debating won for Kecoughtan.

Donald Klinger, Robert Holland, Michael Quillian, and James Meredith are in a familiar place where most debaters spend many hours researching—the library.

Mr. Bell, debate coach, watches while Mike Quillian prepares note cards for the next debate.

All classes and grade levels were represented by the membership of the French Club of Kecoughtan High School. The usual car washes, bake sales, and a dance were the fund-raising projects of the club. The money thus accumulated was to be for the annual picnic but a major portion of it went into the club's scholarship fund. Film showings, speakers, and lively discussions about the culture, history, government, and notables of France made the meetings informative and enjoyable.

With the guidance of Miss Carole Lushinsky as sponsor, this year of action and growth resulted from the enthusiasm and efforts of Linda Popp, president and Alan Townsend, vice-president. An efficient secretary, Deborah Tice, and a money-minded treasurer, Cindy Crumlish, worked effectively to help carry out the club's plans and projects.

Latin may be a dead language but Kecoughtan's Latin Club was certainly not dead this year. Promoting an interest in Latin and in Rome was one of the club's main purposes. Slides of Rome and discussions of Roman mythology and history lent enthusiasm to the meetings. Promoting excellence in Latin, the club sponsored Kecoughtan's participants in the annual Virginia Classical League Latin Tournament.

The club also conducted various money-making projects so that they could present a gift of books pertaining to Latin to the library. A bake sale was held in February and a car wash in the spring. Sponsored by Mrs. Carol Stallings and led by Vicki Walton, president; Susan DeRousse, vice-president; Connie Blagg, secretary; Jennie Jacobs, treasurer; and Paul Nobles, chaplain, the club ended the year with a picnic, as a variation on the traditional Roman banquet, where the new inductees served as slaves.

Hard work and sincere effort characterized this year's German Club participation in many activities. Building a float for the Homecoming Parade was one of the first projects. A bake sale and a paper drive provided the club with funds for the float, and other activities. Led by Jennie Kesler, president; John Massoglia, vice-president; Jackie Douglas, secretary; Bonny Dye, treasurer, and Renee Catling, historian, the club, through its meetings increased its knowledge of Germany and German customs. Membership was open to any interested student. Mrs. Julia Schoen, sponsor, helped in planning a party which featured German customs.

The club carried out some service projects, especially the collecting of old winter clothes for Indians in the Southwest. They took a trip to the German Embassy and to a restaurant specializing in German food in Washington, D.C. This trip was the highlight of the club's activities for the year.

Boys predominated in Audio-Aid clubs.

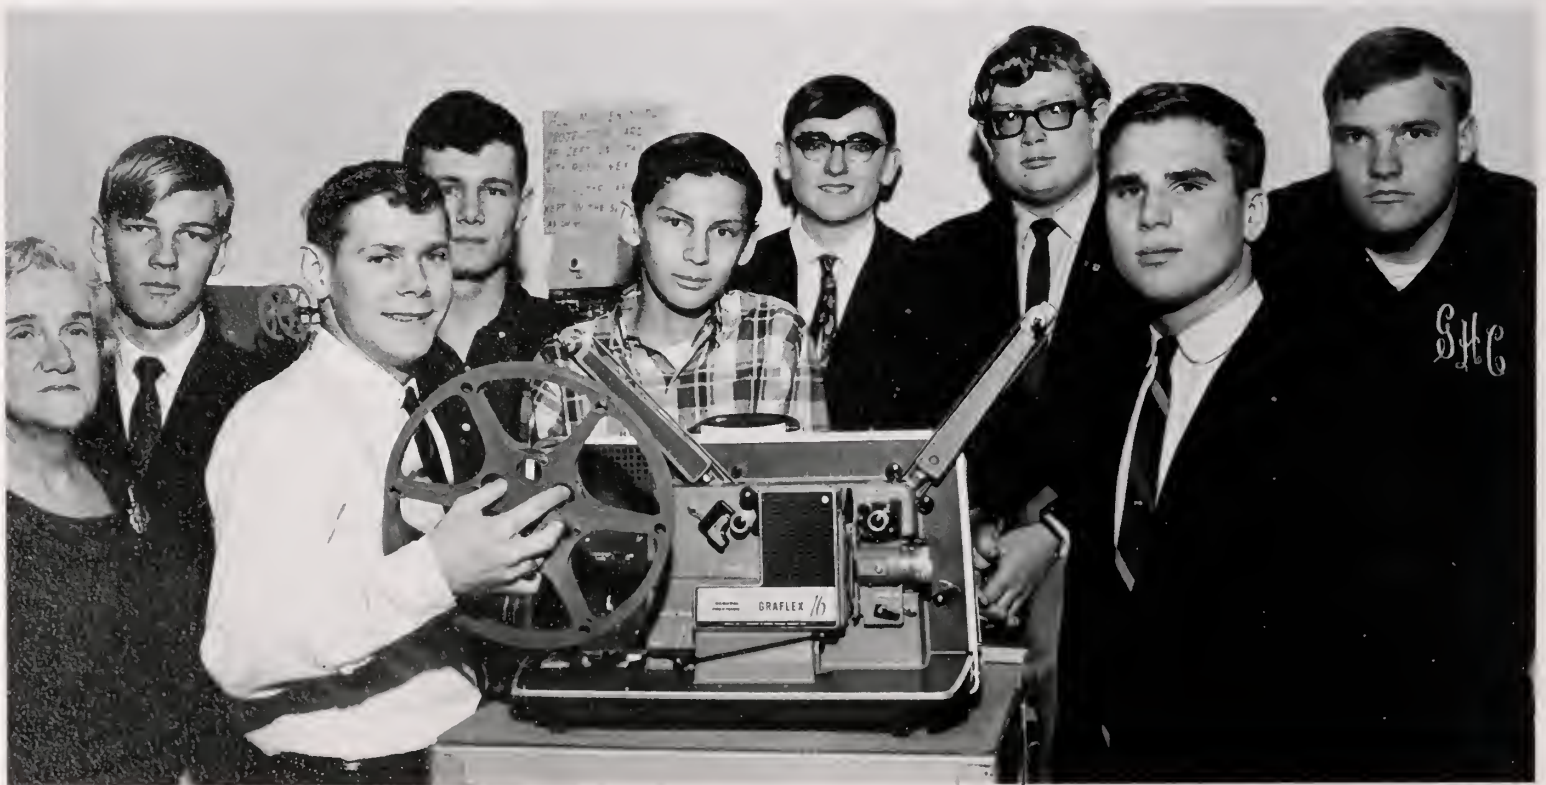

Jack Hodges, Pat Guiant, and Clyde Tennyson are all able to operate the levers for the lights and curtains in the auditorium.

A vital part of the school, the Audio-Visual and Audio-Sonic Club members with their skilled use of equipment helped the faculty and students. The Audio-Sonic Club handled the lights, curtains, and other mechanical devices in the gymnasium and auditorium. Because of their work, both school and community productions operated smoothly. With the guidance of Mr. Mike Riddick, and the leadership of Jack Hodges and Pat Guiant, the club checked the equipment frequently and made necessary repairs.

The Audio-Visual Club aided the school by delivering film projectors, tape recorders, and record players when and where they were needed. Often members did more than deliver; they operated the machines, taught the teachers to use the "gadgets," checked the serviceability of the equipment, and handled minor repairs.

Since this equipment is handled through the library, Mrs. Ethel Brockley and Miss Nancy Spain sponsored the club. Charles Spearman, president; Jesse Barbour, vice-president; and Gary Stockburger, secretary-treasurer, helped plan the activities, including a tour of a local radio station.

Open to any student interested in books, library work as a career, or helping in the library, the Library Club had many duties this year. It helped maintain the library courtyard and helped decorate bulletin boards. They also helped publicize new books and suggested books which they thought might be popular. During National Library Week the club sponsored a tea for the teachers and at the end of the year the club, continuing an annual tradition, presented the library with a useful gift.

Led by Barbara Milby, president; Joseph Boswell, vice-president; Sharon McDaniel, secretary; Terry Ulsh, treasurer; and Pam Reaugh, Inter-Club Council representative, the club entered a float in the Homecoming Parade. Especially enjoyed by the Library Club was their annual trip to Richmond where they visited famous buildings and museums and attended a play.

The Distributive Education Club was organized as a unifying force for DE students, all of whom held a part-time job during the school year through which they learned more about the requirements and opportunities of a career in business. Much time was spent in district and state competition where Kecoughtan won many honors. George Rosso, treasurer, was selected DE Student of the Year. Other officers were Steve Wiggins, president; David Bounds, vice-president; Nancy Ritchie, secretary, and Mary Jane Reynolds, chaplain.

Sponsored by Mrs. Virginia Johnson, the club had non-business activities. Their float in the Homecoming Parade won third prize and their door decoration won first prize at Christmas. Ending the year were two scholarships awarded to George Rosso and Ann Willis by the Peninsula and Hampton Retail Merchant Associations respectively.

The Future Business Leaders of America, sponsored by Miss Karen Pearce, were very busy this year with service and money-making projects. Open to any student taking the business curriculum who is interested in business as a career, the club earned money through various bake sales and a doughnut sale in school.

Encouraged by Nadine Fox, president; Pat Hadley, vice-president; Gloria Hawley, secretary; Maureen Hanlon, treasurer; and Linda Freeman, reporter, the club successfully carried out many service projects. At Christmas the Future Business Leaders of America presented a program to entertain the men at the Veterans Administration. Later in the year club members collected money for the March of Dimes. All of the members this year received many hours of enjoyment from the club, as well as a sense of helping others and learning more about their chosen career fields.

Student speakers competed in Forensics Meet.

Learning to maintain composure and poise and learning more about the fine points of the art of public speaking were two of the Speech Club's goals. Under the guidance of Miss Carole Lushinsky, speech teacher at Kecoughtan, the club attended workshops at Hampton High to help them reach these goals. Money-making projects were also held, especially car washes and candy sales. These projects provided the needed funds for a float in the Homecoming Parade. Later in the year money was also used to pay speech contest fees and other costs of entering and preparing for the contests.

Eddie Bonniwell, president; Lynn Burcher, vice-president; Sharon Ford, secretary; and Dee Baber, treasurer, worked hard to make the club a success. Culminating the year's activities was participation in the Peninsula Catholic Speech Contest and the District Forensic Meet. Kecoughtan was proud of its Speech Club's fine showing in these events.

FTA began Teacher of the Month.

Glenna Flynn and Gail Summerlin talk to Mrs. Ann Crouch, an FTA Teacher-of-the-Month, about why she decided to become a teacher.

An interest in teaching and education were qualities of members of the Future Teachers of America. The club engaged in various activities this year. Attendance at district meetings and representation at the state convention in Richmond were two of their major activities.

Within the school the club, sponsored by Mrs. Doris Ennis with Cathy Maston, president; Gail Summerlin, vice-president; Debbie Richardson, secretary; and Lois Schneider, treasurer, leading the way, held a doughnut sale to raise money. A point system was set up to evaluate members' participation. During Teaching Career Month in April the students taught at an elementary school. During this time also a trip to Old Dominion College in Norfolk was made. An especially interesting project instituted this year was the selection of a Teacher-of-the-Month, who was announced to the school through Tribal Tales and was featured in announcements on a bulletin board.

Sponsor Miss Burchett and other members of the Youth for Christ Club: Cheryl Green, Glenna Flynn, Nancy Powell, Susan Haraway, and Katrina Spencer.

"Teens telling teens through Youth for Christ" was the primary theme for the Kecoughtan chapter of Youth for Christ this year. To promote this idea, bi-monthly meetings were held. Since exchange of ideas among schools was encouraged, district rallies were held at local auditoriums throughout the area. This year the Youth for Christ Club was involved in numerous worthwhile activities. They sponsored the YFC Talent Show and the YFC Chorale. Through the interest and energy of their sponsor, Miss Delores Burchett and Susan Haraway, president; Glenna Flynn, vice-president; Cheryl Greene, secretary-treasurer; Katrina Spencer, chaplain, and Steve Armstrong, ICC representative, the Kecoughtan Youth for Christ Club was one of the most successful on the Peninsula.

FHA members attended state convention.

Offering students a chance to learn more about home economics and similar skills, as well as providing service to the community and school were among the goals of the Future Homemakers of America this year. Led by Nancy Begor, president; Nancy Carter, first vice-president; Cathy Barnes, second vice-president; Marie Taylor, secretary; and Linda Creamer, treasurer, the club was extremely active. Sponsoring a float for Homecoming and making cupcakes for the Shelton Home at Thanksgiving were among the club's early projects.

Sponsored by Mrs. Elizabeth Wells and Miss Catherine Thomas, the FHA also made ditty bags for the men in Vietnam at Christmas time. Selling candy and a bake sale were important money-making projects which helped to send representatives to the statewide FHA convention in Roanoke.

Student assistants helped in office, bookstore.

Willing hands and feet and a desire to be of service to the school are of prime importance in being a student assistant. These students help in the main office and in the offices of the assistant principals and dean of girls, in the guidance department, the bookstore, and the clinic. They perform many tasks. Answering telephones, filing, and carrying messages are all part of a student assistant's varied daily tasks.

Two of the more personal jobs of student assistants are helping parents and students who need to see Mr. Szetela, and helping students find needed information about colleges in the catalogue library in the guidance department. The time and trouble which these students save many people are invaluable, and they are rewarded with a sense of helpfulness and experience as well as sincere thanks from the clerks, faculty, and administration.

Library assistants helped by checking out books.

The Library Assistants were important, useful persons at Kecoughtan. They gave up free periods, lunch periods, or time before or after school to help the librarians with their work. Processing new books, typing, filing, and other secretarial duties composed much of their work. Sending overdue notices to the homerooms occupied much time. Checking the shelves for books which had been misplaced and working at the circulation desk were two other important duties. Another time-consuming task was keeping track of the student passes to the library. Managing a library which serves as many students as Kecoughtan's is difficult. This could not have been done without the library assistants, and all of the school, librarians, teachers, and students were most appreciative of the time and effort these persons donated to Kecoughtan.

Various medical careers, including nursing and community health projects, were studied by the members of the Future Nurses Club during '66-'67. Trips to Fort Belvoir and Walter Reed Hospitals provided the members with opportunities to get first-hand knowledge of nursing duties and activities through observing members of this and other medical professions at work. Funds for these trips, as well as for the Homecoming Parade float and the donation to the Christmas Fund, came from the collection of dues and the holding of bake sales and car washes.

To gain actual experience in medical fields, these Future Nurses also worked at the mobile X-Ray units and at local bloodmobiles under the leadership of Regina Pizzeck, president, and Mrs. Judene Hartless, sponsor. With the cooperation of Jackie Edmonds, vice-president; Debbie Jones, secretary, and Linda Popp, treasurer, the club experienced an active and useful year.

Junior Red Cross was organized to interest students in the rewarding experience of serving their community. Miss Edythe Edwards, the sponsor of the group, assisted the leaders Teresa Rader, president; Mindy McDonald, vice-president; and Susan Chambliss, secretary-treasurer, in providing and planning programs which would further acquaint them with the duties involved in Junior Red Cross.

Activities of the club this year centered on service to the community. The club provided holiday decorations for the Shelton Home at Christmas, provided entertainment and visited the children in the pediatric ward at Dixie Hospital, and attended workshops emphasizing the real meaning of Red Cross. Throughout the year the members have been busy helping and serving others.

Y-Teens collected for March of Dimes.

Creating a Christian fellowship and doing service projects for the community and school were the main goals of the Y-Teens, a teenage division of the YWCA. Sponsored by Miss Carole Boetcher, the club had many worthwhile service projects. Among these were sending a fruit basket to the Shelton Home at Thanksgiving, sending candy to the Methodist Home for Children at Christmas, collecting for the March of Dimes, and contributing toward a resuscitator for the clinic at school.

Led by Pam Neely, president; Pam Allen, vice-president; JoAnn Sides, secretary-treasurer, and Frances Witkowski, chaplain, the club also had money-making projects of which selling candy was the most successful. As a special treat, the Y-Teens made heart-shaped cookies for the teachers on Valentine's Day. In April the club participated in the district doughnut sale to end an active year.

KHS lettermen promoted loyalty.

Recognition for athletic ability and a chance to provide service for the school and support to all athletic events is provided by the Varsity Club. Those boys who have lettered in any varsity sport at Kecoughtan make up the membership of this group. Sponsored by Mr. William Greene with Barry Strong, president; Larry Willis, vice-president; and Gill Lynn, business manager, the club helped the athletic department by contributing funds to buy new equipment.

Selling candy was the major money-making project, while forming a line for the football homecoming queen and her court was a more pleasant job. Laughter and an unusual twist were added to a pep rally when the Varsity Club boys dressed as majorettes and performed their 'routines'.

District Interact organization formed.

Dedicated to service and international understanding, and sponsored by Rotary, the Interact Club, in its second year of service, has made a name for itself. Each member displayed achievement in academic and extracurricular activities as well as good character and leadership. Sponsored by Mr. Thomas Millen, the club ushered at class assemblies and pep rallies and entered a float in the Homecoming Parade.

Urged on by Bill Mixon, president; Ronnie Parker, vice-president; Steve Jackson, secretary; and Tom Creamer, treasurer, the club collected toys for underprivileged children at Christmas and clothing for the Save the Children Foundation. To earn money for a yearly scholarship, the club sold candy and sponsored a coat and hat check at home basketball games. Helping to usher at the Miss KHS contest was one of the club's most enjoyable tasks. On the district level, our club with that from Hampton High, worked to form a District Interact Governorship and to start a club at James Blair High School. Defeating the Key Club in basketball made a complete success of this busy year.

Keyettes Jan Sigler, Mary Convery, Charlotte Hundley, and Cindy Crumlish are all busy decorating the tree for the Mistletoe and Holly Ball.

Helping the school and the community are the main objectives of Keyettes, a national service club for girls. Tina Convery, president; Judy McKinley, vice-president; Linda Popp, secretary; and Pam Edwards, treasurer, with the rest of the members worked on a float for Homecoming. Much time was spent collecting for charities. Members became proficient waitresses by serving at banquets for various organizations.

Much time went into money-making projects. This year the Keyettes had bake sales, sold candy, and sponsored the shoe and coat check at the Basketball Homecoming dance, and the coat check at the Junior Ring dance and the Prom. With the help of advisers Mrs. Martha Woods and Mrs. Sharleen Pressley, the club and the Key Club sponsored the annual Mistletoe and Holly Ball.

The Keyettes were active this year on the district and national levels. Attendance at the national convention where two Kecoughtan girls ran for national office in May was the highlight of the year.

Keyettes and Key Clubs.

Sponsored by the Mercury 64 Kiwanis Club, the Key Club prospered this year while participating in money-making drives and performing many services to the school and community. Aided by advisor Mr. Mike Riddick, the club had a float in the Homecoming Parade and co-sponsored the Mistletoe and Holly Ball.

As a service to the school, the Key Club ushered at all plays, the choral and band concerts, and the Miss KHS pageant. Money-making projects, suggested by Jim Tuttle, president; Don Klinger, vice-president; Bill Freeman, secretary; Monty Hartman, treasurer, and Mike Quillian, chaplain, such as selling "Chuck Wagons", first-aid kits, and programs at football games enabled the club to pay much of the cost of a resuscitator for the clinic. The club also participated in baseball, football, and basketball games against Interact and attended the district convention in Roanoke.

The members of Key Club put much time and energy into building their float for the Homecoming Parade.

School spirit, loud voices, agility, vitality, and energy are all qualities of the cheerleaders at Kecoughtan. Led by Co-Captains Mary Joyce Knowles and Bonnie Cain, the cheerleaders practiced for hours, rehearsing cheers, leaps, bounds, and eye-catching unison movements—all designed to inspire the students and the teams. At all the games, the cheerleaders sparked the enthusiasm of the crowd with new and traditional cheers. The Junior Varsity cheerleaders, led by Mary Wild, helped the Varsity at all pep rallies and cheered the junior varsity teams to victories.

The sponsors, Miss Ruth Hill for the Varsity squad, and Miss Patricia Dabney for the JV squad, helped the girls in many ways. The Pep Club gave the cheerleaders loyal support in promoting school spirit and attendance at games. At pep rallies and at games, in every way, the cheerleaders exemplified the spirit and sportsmanship of Kecoughtan's student body by giving encouragement to the teams—in victory and in defeat.

Sports

Kecoughtan's athletic program provided physical culture, cooperative team effort, school unity, and spirit. Qualified individuals with the desire to make a team actively represented KHS on the competitive field. Won and lost records did not tell the total story. Opponents left the field knowing KHS teams had given their best. Many thrilling contests attested to the fine coaching and teamwork developed by the Warriors. Joyful victories and tearful defeats marked the year. All saw the teams in an active role—continually striving to win—and upsetting some mighty opponents. In track, football, wrestling, swimming, basketball, or baseball; Kecoughtan teams established a reputation for sportsmanship and hustle. KHS was unequalled in spirit, determination, and desire to win. The coaching staff and loyal supporters backed the teams to the final whistle of each contest.

In the following pages, action typical of the Sports program is recorded. Warrior teams fulfilled the goals of the athletic program, and produced outstanding athletes.

Long hours of practice, many bruises, sore muscles, and hard knocks were endured by each member of the '66 Warrior Varsity football team. In spite of determination and spirit, the Warrior score card looks very unimpressive but there were some highlights.

A 20-0 victory over the Patriots of Denbigh got the season off to a good start. Later, KHS upset Patrick Henry by a substantial margin, 28-7. The Crabbers were not crushed this year, but we believe the Warrior team of '67 will smash their rivals. Outstanding players this year were Barry Strong and Larry McKnight. Barry, captain, made the All-Peninsula team. Larry, through election and qualifications, was named the captain of the '67 Warrior team.

Coach William Greene found his charges to be eager to learn and very willing to work. He is hopeful that '67 will be a better year and expects it to be because he has some experienced and well-trained players coming back.

The harriers on the 1966 Warrior team produced a record for the season of three wins and three losses. Tri-Captains Phil Grant, Stan Gilbert, and John Brown led their teammates through the season. Chief of the coaching staff this year was Mr. Edward Jones, and Mr. Peter Wallio and Mr. Grover Johnson served as his assistants.

At a meet at Gosnolds Hope Park, Elmer Seward established a new home course record. His teammate, Phil Grant, bettered the Denbigh course time by 46 seconds. Phil Grant also qualified and competed in the State Meet.

The '66 junior Warriors of KHS earned a record of two wins and three losses for the year. The meets were close and the Warriors' lack of depth again contributed to the defeats. While the record was not a good one, the '66 year provided experience and training for next year's Varsity team. Many of this year's junior Warriors will be out to become members of the '67 team.

Mr. Ed Jones, coach of the Cross Country teams this year, expects to find the KHS Warriors more experienced and ready for an outstanding season in '67.

Inexperience plagued this year's golf squad, which posted a 3 wins, 7 losses record. The only experienced player on the team this year was Gary Spears. Unfortunately, Gary was not eligible most of the season. However, Gary came back to lead the team in the latter part of the season.

The team was composed of Terry Bench, David McKiernan, Bill Chandler, James Carter, Jim Gibson, Harvey Chang, Gary Spears, Warren Gerow, and was coached by Mr. William Greene. Next year's team will have a fine turnout of returning golfers to form a solid nucleus for a winning season.

The Kecoughtan tennis team was one of the most successful squads at our school this year. Under the guidance of the rookie coach David Nelson, the Warrior netmen scored an excellent record of 8-6 overall and a 6-4 record in the district. This district record was good enough to give the team a third place finish in the Peninsula District, the highest finish of any Kecoughtan tennis team ever.

The team ladder was as follows; John Brown, Grant Cole, Roger McKinnon, Jim Rexrode, Fred Bounds, Herman Prescott, and John Lown. These boys and their coach could be seen practicing daily in all kinds of weather. They were known as a dedicated group of boys who never gave up. It is also important to note that five of the first seven will be returning next year to give Coach Nelson a good start toward a team.

The officers of the GRA were as follows: Cecelia Waagner, president; Jeannie Douglas, vice president; Linda Willis, secretary-treasurer; and Donna Miller, recorder of points.

During the fall months GRA members participated in intramural football and basketball. After learning the skills of volleyball, they competed against Hampton High School in various athletic events. Playing softball in the spring was an activity open to any girls at Kecoughtan, not only GRA members.

At the end of the year, those members who had accumulated a certain number of points from participating in numerous activities were given sports awards. Points earned in junior high school were added to the total number of points earned in high school.

Classes

Students are the most vital part of Kecoughtan's existence. All the activities, both scholastic and extra-curricular, center around student interests and needs. The classes at KHS work together to maintain an active, productive atmosphere with faculty guidance in other parts of student life.

The Sophomores constituted Kecoughtan's largest class for '66-'67. Their year centered around familiarizing themselves with high school life and adjusting to the active pace at KHS. For the Sophomores as in other classes, the academic aspect of high school was emphasized.

Spirit characterized the Junior class. Proving triumphant with the coveted Spirit Jug, their spirit and enthusiasm continued throughout the year's projects which climaxed in April with the Ring Dance.

Scholastic excellence was the outstanding characteristic of the Class of '67. This year's Seniors concerned themselves with grades, colleges, class-sponsored activities, all leading to the Prom in May and Graduation in June.

Here all the individual Warriors composing the entire Kecoughtan student body are pictured.

Sophomores stepped into the hectic

The sophomore class officers were Greg Bennett, president; Steve Richerson, vice-president; Linda Chisman, secretary; Kenneth Alligood, treasurer; and Debbie Morgan, chaplain.

The bewildered souls, wandering Kecoughtan's halls for the first time this year, proved to be the Sophomores, the Class of '69. Once they began to feel at home and less unsure of themselves, they showed great interest and enthusiasm for all phases of school life. An early and spirited election gave this class Greg Bennett, president; Steve Richerson, vice-president; Linda Chisman, secretary; Kenneth Alligood, treasurer; and Debbie Morgan, chaplain.

As the sophomores became more involved in classes and school activities they convinced the upperclassmen that they were true Warriors. They led in collecting boxes for the Kecoughtan-Hampton pre-game bonfire. Third prize in the door decorating contest at Christmas went to a sophomore homeroom. Their dance, sponsored during the football season, for fund raising purposes was very successful, too. As a half-time attraction, sophomores gave a delightful presentation representing extracurricular activities.

Encouragement, advice, and guidance came from Mrs. Eylese Latham, class sponsor, and Mrs. Evelyn Moore, sophomore guidance counselor. Capable officers and enthusiastic class members have united to produce a well-organized, smooth-running, and efficient class. The Class of '69 has shown that it possesses the qualities of enthusiasm, co-operation, and school spirit considered to be desirable. They are well on their way to being the future leaders of Kecoughtan High School.

Between classes even sophomores find time to mingle.

"Please let me serve first, Miss Anderson," pleads Sue Stephani as Margie Wikan and Mary Pesko look on.

Spirited Juniors, 580, looked

Under the direction of David Richerson, president, the Junior Class triumphantly gained possession of the coveted Spirit Jug four times in succession! Their greatest victory was achieved through collecting the largest number of cans for the annual canned food drive in November.

During November and December, the class hustled and pushed through several money-making projects to finance the annual Ring Dance. Christmas candles, decorated bulb covers, and Kecoughtan ball point pens could be bought from any junior—in school or out. Mrs. Ann Crouch as sponsor of the class gave the Juniors leadership and enthusiasm for their many projects.

At the Football Homecoming game, Patsy McKee represented the Junior class as attendant, and Charlotte Hundley was the Junior attendant for the Basketball Queen.

Orders for class rings had to be placed in November and eager Juniors then began to await their arrival in April. Fred Bounds and Diane Guthmiller guided the plans for this occasion by serving as co-chairmen of the Ring Dance. When the magic night arrived, the imaginative theme "Wonderland by Night" was highlighted in blue and silver colors in a disguised gymnasium, and the '67 Junior Ring Dance proved to be wonderful.

Mrs. Virginia Tyler, class advisor, and Mrs. Ann Crouch, class sponsor, guided the juniors through the year and aided in paving the way for their Senior year. Mrs. Tyler helped the juniors in scheduling and in preparing for college. Mrs. Crouch answered many questions for the juniors and helped in making many important decisions upon request from the class officers.

David Richerson served as president of the Class of '68 and was ably assisted by Tommy Boone, vice-president; and Linda Besecker, secretary. The financial affairs were in the capable hands of Sherry Allen, and Letty Lee Bright as chaplain, gave devotionals at class meetings. All juniors gave complete co-operation and enthusiastic support to the homeroom representatives, the officers, and the sponsor.

forward to an eventful year.

The Junior members of the Tomahawk staff were: Seated—Carol Harris and Glenna Flynn; Standing—Mary Convery, Deborah Carter, Charlotte Hundley, and Brenda Bass.

The Junior Class Representatives and Committee heads: Row 1: Jane Miller, Vicki Walton, Carolyn Gastor, Brenda Bass, Mary Convery, Joanne Bird. Row 2: Chris Cherry, Karen Wilson, Sharon Boone, Gerry Stutts, Debbie Richardson, Mary Fortune, Pat Price, Dot Duffy, Beth Alford, Jan Sigler, Linda Nelson. The sale of pens and Christmas candles

Mrs. Ann Crouch prepares to enlighten her Junior English students about the many aspects of American Literature.

Would you believe?—Juniors studying!

After the Spirit Jug Judges—Mr. White, Miss Hill, Mr. Millen, and Mr. Warner had conferred, another decision went to the Juniors.

Lyn Gregory and Hurley Freeman, the giants of the Junior class, participated in the E.C. Glass Pep Club skit.

aided in financing the Junior Ring Dance.

Even the Junior class officers; Letty Lee Bright, Tommy Boone, Linda Besecker, David Richerson, and Sherry Allen find time to relax in the halls.

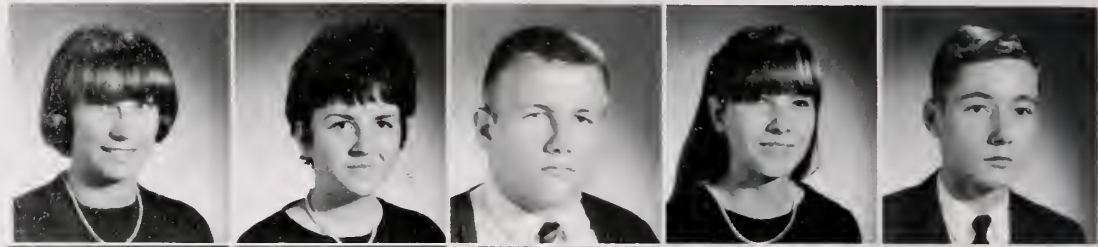

With mixed emotions, David Richerson took the Spirit Jug from Terry Viets and reluctantly gave it up to the Sophomores.

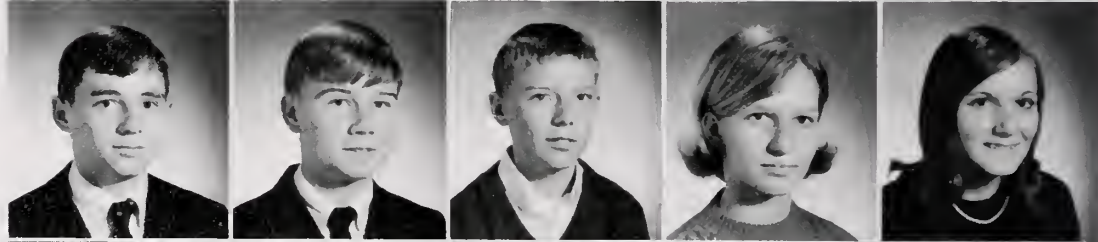

Some busy Juniors take time out from lunch to continue their studies.

Led by President Eddie Bonniwell,

Senior class officers were Burt Saunders, Barbara Mingee, Eddie Bonniwell, Judy McKinley and Kay Shaheen.

Seniors, the Class of '67, returned to Kecoughtan in the fall, enthusiastic and proud of attaining their goal—being Seniors. First things must come first and two officers had to be elected. Eddie Bonniwell assumed the responsibilities of the class presidency and Kay Shaheen was elected to fill the vacancy in the office of vice-president. Then the Seniors felt that they were ready for their year of action—their last.

A major problem facing the Seniors and one requiring prompt action was to start gaining the funds necessary for the operation of the many class events to be held in the spring. In December, they sponsored and held the first Miss KHS contest and this was just to get their money-making activities started. Later on, the annual Talent Show and the Senior Class Play were other major sources of these essential funds. Throughout these active times, Mrs. Jean Curtis, class sponsor, was on hand to advise, to assist, and to lend a sympathetic ear whenever needed.

Spring brought the reality of those long-awaited activities: the Prom, the Senior Class Night, and the Baccalaureate service. Then, at last, there was that final occasion—Commencement. The awarding of the diplomas, the announcing of the winners of scholarships, awards, and honors brought their years at Kecoughtan to an end for the Seniors of '67. Some of their dreams and hopes were now realities and their futures stretch before them.

The committee chairmen for 1967 were: Row 1: John Bennett, Tina Convery, Judy McKinley, Barbara Mingee, Kay Shaheen. Row 2: Clyde Lynn, Janet Cryer, Patty Alexander, Sandra Smithwick, Maryann Stieffen, Joy Minor, Jack Hodges.

In Memoriam

Michael Cary Lewis
June 17, 1949—November 28, 1966

As the Sun sets peacefully in the West,
We look forward to the rising of the Moon.

This time does not mark an Ending,
But rather, it signals a new Beginning.

We like to feel that the nature of our existence
Parallels the nature of our Universe.

That death on Earth is not simply a sad Ending,
But is instead, the foundation of a new Beginning.

The student body and faculty of Kecoughtan gratefully recognizes the businesses and friends who have generously contributed to the Tomahawk. The firms listed in the following pages have shown the active spirit typical of the KHS Warriors. These supporters of the "Green and White" are vitally interested in the progress and success of this student publication. Continued support of these firms will show our activity and appreciation for their support. They will welcome our future business and patronage.

In helping finance the yearbook, these businesses have been instrumental and KHS Warriors have been vital in their financial successes. Your Tomahawk editor, staff, and advisors have enjoyed the preparation of this book. It represents many hours of learning and hard work. Sincere wishes for success in the future accompany this volume for students, faculty and advertisers.

Kecoughtan Parent-Teacher Association

The officers of the 66-67 PTA were: Mr. George Close, vice-president; Mrs. Howard F. Taylor, president; Mrs. Charles Milby, corresponding secretary; Mr. Wayne G. Wills, treasurer, and Mrs. Vernard E. Lockwood, historian.

During the school year 1966-1967, the Kecoughtan High School PTA was busy and active. Under the leadership of the president, Mrs. Howard F. Taylor, with the other officers: Mr. George Close, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Milby, secretary; Mr. Wayne G. Wills, treasurer; and Mrs. Vernard E. Lockwood, historian; improvements were made in the many aspects of parent, teacher, and student relationships. The PTA was represented at State, District, and Federation meetings. The membership of the PTA was 711, a substantial increase over last year.

PTA publications were emphasized this year and the school library was provided with a subscription to the PTA Magazine as well as $300 for new books. Members of the PTA attended and participated in many projects dealing with school libraries.

In February, Kecoughtan hosted a Parent and Family Life Institute. The theme was "Better Schools Make a Better Community." The College Orientation Program was coordinated by the PTA and the Guidance Department.

The bloodmobile was sponsored by the KHS Parent-Teacher Association with 47 donors. The PTA contributed funds for new items for the clinic. Due to PTA concern and interest, the Hampton Police Department assigned a patrol car to be on duty at the school at the end of the day. This has proved to be a beneficial safety measure.

The PTA kept the parents informed through newsletters and articles in the newspapers and local bulletins. The Kecoughtan PTA donated $75 to the Federation scholarship fund. Money-making projects this year were: the sale of PTA calendars, a benefit card party, and sales of refreshments at various functions.

Through the PTA and Guidance Committee of the SCA, the activities of the students, faculty, and parents were organized efficiently.

The members of the PTA executive board were: (seated) Mrs. Mary Alford, Mrs. Alvin Collins, Mrs. H. P. Quigley, Mrs. Charlotte Johnson, Mrs. Fate Cross; (standing) Mrs. E. B. Woodard, Col. Raymond D. Hill, Mrs. Louie Andrews, Mrs. Frank G. Read, and Mrs. Earl G. Popp.

GOOD SHIPS START HERE

Fine ships don't roll off a production line. They're built efficiently and well only by men whose skills and knowledge are broad. That's why Newport News begins at the beginning with its own selective Apprentice School.

High School graduates enter on the basis of academic record. But selectivity doesn't stop there. In classroom and shop, in the drafting room and out in the yard, each man's special abilities are watched and developed.

Some become skilled and versatile machinists. Others become expert electricians or precision tool makers. Many become supervisors. Some earn scholarships for advanced training at colleges and technical schools.

We think the School's a pretty inspiring place, because its end results are good men and good ships.

'66-'67 Year of Action ends

Throughout the Year of Action, much was accomplished by the Warriors at Kecoughtan High School. Whether in scholastic endeavors or extra curricular activities, the 1966-1967 school year proved to be a memorable one. Who can forget the victories, the defeats, the joyful moments and the sad? After such an eventful year each student and faculty member reflected upon his or her achievements; some were viewed with happiness, others with regret or dismay. The '67 Tomahawk presents the events of the Year of Action for the students and faculty of KHS as a pictorial and a written history, a permanent record of the past year. From the football season to the Senior Prom, from exams to Graduation, the happenings of the year are recorded in this yearbook.

It is with great pleasure, satisfaction, and a sigh of relief, that the staff and advisors of the Tomahawk present this volume:

1967—The Year of Action!
