The 1940 ORIOLE

BEING VOLUME 19, PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENT BODY OF 1940 OF THE PULASKI HIGH SCHOOL AT PULASKI, VIRGINIA

We dedicate . . .

... Co Peace

FOREWORD

In order to preserve and cherish forever the precious memories of another year full of fun, activity, and scholastic achievement, we now proudly present our 1940 "Oriole." It is our earnest desire that, as you turn these pages, you may read between every line the undying spirit of our own dear P.II. S. With every word, may our hearts o'erflow with love and gratitude, and in sweet reminiscence, relive every happy minute of a grand and glorious year.

Co Alma Mater

Beyond your pillars, white and tall,

Beyond your weather-beaten brick,

We cherish precious memories

And know each one will always stick.

When Father Time has ravaged on

A thousand thousand years or more,

And all your walls have crumbled down,

To stand, as you may think, no more—

Still, somewhere in a distant land

This one thing sure, oh yes!

Ten thousand strong, we'll shout aloud:

"Live on! Live on, Oh P. II. S.!"

Alma Mater...

OF WHICH WE

Home Ec. Cottage

SCHOOL life at P. H. S. has been exceedingly brightened by these beautiful and modern edifices which have recently been added to our high school campus. The Home Economics cottage (as shown above) is a perfect little "dream house" with four rooms—living room, dining room, bedroom, and kitchen—and bath, besides the activity room; and it's equipped to perfection with the most modern of furnishings throughout.

The cottage has been found indispensable for holding club meetings and small school parties; and it has been the center of various other social and educational functions throughout the year, beginning with a Silver Tea last October, which formally opened its portals.

Miss Charlotte Booker is the attractive "keeper" of the cottage, and under her careful direction the course in the science of home economics has been capably instituted in our P. H. S. curriculum. Under her guidance, approximatley 94 girls have been taught the art of home economics this year and the cottage has proved a most profitable factor in our 1939-'40 school term.

ARE JUSTLY PROUD

OUR beautiful new gynmasium is also the pride and joy of every student of P. H. S. Most of us can remember our anxious anticipation as we watched it grow with wondering eyes from the sturdy and solid foundation; and none of us were disappointed; instead, we gazed in awe at its spaciousness.

Physical education as a scheduled course of study was introduced this year for the first time in our history, and the regular gym classes were held under the exclusive direction of Coach John S. Coiner, who carefully instructed both girls and boys in the various phases of physical training.

Social life in the gym began with its formal opening on October 20, with a dance following. Since then, other various dances, as well as all sports and other extra curricula activities, have found their special places in the use of our P. H. S. gym.

Our Commercial Department under the direction of Miss Mary Hays is also located in this new addition.

WE WILL

Best wishes. Edgar G. Prust

Edgar G. Pruet

In THE fall of our school year '39-'40, the faculty was the first to appear upon the scene. Most of them had come from other locales; but they soon got acquainted and we've all had lots of fun working together throughout the year.

From Ashland, Alabama, came our new principal, Mr. Edgar G. Pruet, who claims as his Alma Maters both the University of Alabama and Peabody College, where he received his A. B. and M. A. degrees, respectively.

Our Home Ec-spert, Miss Charlotte Booker, hails from Blackstone, Virginia. She spent her last four years at Mary Washington, but has so captivated interest here that P. H. S. now calls her our own. With the new gym, new dressing rooms, modern showers and a handsome coach Mr. John S. Coiner of Washington, D. C., graduate of William and Mary—everything in the Physical Education Department was complete; and who should be in charge of the new commercial room but Miss Mary Hays, graduate of Bowling Green Business University. She comes to us from Kentucky and has interested many in the course of Commercial Science.

Miss Mary Ann Sanderson, the Bird's Nest addition to our faculty, migrated here after obtaining her B. S. degree at Farmville State Teachers College; and she has proved a valuable asset to the Department of Social Studies. We were also able to capture tall, sophisticated Miss Catherine Wood, who came to us from Virginia Intermont College with an enviable record. She received her A. B. from Randolph-Macon and was orginally from Pulaski. "Gone With the Wind" had its Scarlet O'Hara, but P. H. S.'s Ralph O'Hair, from Hampden-Sidney, blew in one day as a third member of our Social Studies Department.

Our Bundy hopped in from Lebanon, Virginia, to try out her mathematical wizardry, which she acquired at Madison College, on P. H. S. students; while Miss Virginia Harman of Dublin, Virginia, full of vim, vigor, and vitality, began her teaching career in math at P. H. S. in September, 1939. Miss Harman attended Radford State Teachers College and Randolph-Macon.

Included in our Science Department is Miss Laura Dalton, our good ol' standby, who has been faithful to P. H. S., and we are proud to claim her as one of our own. We've a Yankee too, in this department—Miss J. Frances Allen of New York. She's attended the University of Virginia, Radford, and the University of Maryland in her young life and her major interest is biology.

Civics and English are the subjects which Miss Elizabeth Painter of Draper, Virginia, teaches; and her list of Alma Maters are Farmville, V. P. L., and Cloumbia; while Miss Elizabeth Blair, of Max Meadows, Virginia, obtained her knowledge at Stonewall Jackson and Vanderbilt. She is our exclusive French teacher, and also teaches English. Moving hither from Roanoke, two years ago, came Miss Elizabeth MacDonald, who won her degree from Roanoke

LONG REMEMBER

College, but she has also attended Columbia University. English is her main interest, and she has also directed Senior Dramatic Activities. Radford claims Miss Lynnwood Kinder, but she has also attended Duke University. Her home's in Radford, Virginia, and she has a fine reputation of being exceptionally well acquainted with both English and Latin.

Usually good things are kept for last, and not by far the least in our estimation is our Diversified Occupations teacher, Mr. Foy Aust. He has been an inspiration to many students who otherwise might have dropped from student ranks; but at some future time, after climbing the ladder of fame, they will owe their success to Mr. Aust. He attended William and Mary W.P.O. I., University of Virginia, and Radford, and a B. S. degree.

*TWAS on the 30th of August, 1939, that the tragedy occurred. Tragedy? Well, everyone has a right to his own opinion!

School was scheduled to start on Thursday, September 7th; but, alas! on a beautiful August morning, just one week beforehand, huge, billowy clouds of smoke drifted over the city. Yes, smoke, rising originally from the northeastern portion of our old Alma Mater.

And now, for the first time, we wish to unfold to you the real cause of the P. H. S. fire, which did approximately $5,000 damages.

Just under the cornice, outside an upstairs window in the north-eastern portion of this fair building of ours, there was a little hornets' nest. Now, for almost a year, that poor little hornets' nest has been mercilessly blamed for the fateful blaze. But now we wish to make it known, it was entirely innocent of even thinking of such a crime. True, Bob, who has been here only one year, was burning the aforesaid hornets' nest under the experienced directions of Old Tom, our veteran janitor. But there was also a little sparrow's nest entwined around a rain-spout up there, which Bob decided to apply his torch to and thus exterminate, forever, pests(?) around the school. Yes, that's how it really was; and 'twas on that beautiful August morning way back in 1939 that, in attempting to do his duty with a broomstick-torch as a weapon, Bob accidentally set fire to our Alma Mater.

START THE FIRES

The damage has been repaired though, and school started one week later—so what? No sense in being a pessimist about it!

The Fire

To the Student Body:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the students of P. II. S. for their loyalty and support in co-operating with the Student Council and me. I have throughly enjoyed working with the Council this year and I sincerely hope that we, as student represenialives, have laid a substantial foundation for the growth and development of the future P. II. S. student councils.

UR Student Council, which was organized in November, had, as its aim, to give the pupils a medium through which they might express themselves on school policies and coordinate extra-curricula activities. One of the most important purposes is to foster democracy.

Some of the things which they have accomplished included controlling of hall traffic, helping, with other clubs, to obtain lockers, and sponsoring a dance.

Garnett Phibbs was elected president of the

SCHOOL BEGAN SEPTEMBER 14

NE DAY last fall, September 14, to be exact, there was a terrific uproar in these old halls—an uproar which our old Alma Mater welcomed with joy. For three long, hot, summer months she had stood practically neglected by her P. H. S. children. But now, she was again happily assured that they had not forgotten here. No, most of them had come back to spend another school year within her walls—a school year to be remembered always in fond recollection of happy experiences.

Yes, there were approximately 460 P.H.S. "noise-makers" who registered on that beautiful September morning; and all of us were full of vim, vigor, and vitality, ready to start our 1939-'40 school life off right.

It was a great day—a day of renewing old acquaintances, a day of meeting new teachers and friends, a day of comparing vacation notes, and a day of generally getting acquainted with the whole set up around which we would build our lively interests for the next nine months.

Included in that gay number were nearly 150 bright young studes entirely inexperienced in high school functions and eagerly starting out to travel the highway that would some day lead them either to life's beckoning portals or to institutions of higher learning. These young freshmen made up the largest class in the school; and soon the bewildered expression that characterized every young fledgling's enthusiastic countenance grew less perplexed, as they gradually settled down to the regular routine of acquiring useful knowledge and indulging in their new adventure of high school activities.

Bubbling over with unsuppressed excitement, they were promptly divided into five home-rooms under the faculty guidance of Misses Jean Bundy, J. Frances Allen, Virginia Harman, Elizabeth Painter, and Laura Dalton. Soon after the first bit of glamour had worn off, the entire class met and held their first election to select 1939-'40 class officers. Mary Helen Keith was elected president, and Vernon Greenamyer vicepresident; "Slick" Tench was chosen secretary, while Frank Newsome won the title of treasurer. Thus organized, the class was led through a most profitable and enjoyable year; and despite the major organizations from which they were barred, entered into many activities which their upperclassmen enjoyed.

THE CLASS OF 1942

EXT in line came 84 of our 1938 "greeners" who, no longer green at anything and highly exalted by their new position as "Sophisticated Sophs," delved in with enthusiasm toward new and higher accomplishments in this their second year of high school. Just one year before, they had ascended those inevitable stairs—stairs which they had gazed upon so hopefully for two seemingly unending years which preceded their memorable ascent.

There were about 110 of them, then, and they'd been divided into four sections under the careful supervision of Miss Frances Foster, Miss Crystal Frye, Miss Laura Dalton, and Mr. Richard T. Daughtrey.

Yes, that was quite an eventful year which they, as Freshmen, experienced; but ah! proud and excited over their new title, they began their Sophomore year with a fervent will to make the very best of every minute. Miss Mary Hays, Miss Mary Ann Sanderson, and Miss Lynnwood Kinder were the homeroom teachers, and soon after getting accustomed to the novelty of Soph life, home-room officers were carefully chosen. H. A. Turner led room No. 100, while Ruth Wallace served as vice-president and Lois Rosenbaum as secretary-treasurer; Room 208 selected Bonnie Jean Gallimore for their president, Pauline Gatewood treasurer, and Ruth Fitzgerald, secretary. In Miss Kinder's room Patsy Miller was wisely chosen president and Helen Jordan served in the capacity of vice-president.

Clubs and athletic programs throughout the year kept a steady reign of activities open to them and they found themselves continuously rushed to keep up with everything.

When the Student Council was organized the Sophs were well represented by Peggy Bosang, Ruth Wallace, and G. C. Hall. They captured several honors throughout the year, too; for example, young Miss Helen Jordan won second place in the P. H. S. Sweethearts' Beauty Contest. Yes, 'twas a most eventful year for all of them, and they look anxiously forward to September 1940, when they can at last call themselves the "Jolliest of Juniors."

UT our '39-'40 Juniors were plenty jolly enough. Yes, sir! The fireworks started in their Freshman year three years ago. In reality, at that prehistoric date, they knew absolutely nothing about high school life; but you wouldn't catch them admitting it—oh, no! And so they tried to put away some of their childish ways and act, with small degree of success, quite grown up; but they still retain some of their frivolous manners. There were 171 of them who gloriously made their famous debut in P. H. S. and they found as their "Modern Instructors of the Untutored," Miss Louise Bondurant, Mr. D. D. Farth-Alderson Propps and Miss ing, M Laura alton. Of the four, Miss Laura Dalton was the only one who could stand their pressure, for the others left after teaching them just one year.

Many of them obtained some experience in journalistic work when they edited a Freshman newspaper, which was most powerful. They ended that first year by adding units of Science, Civics, Math. and First Year English to their credit.

One hundred and sixteen of them survived their first crucial term and were ready to take the next hurdle, much the wiser. It took three teachers to handle them the next year: Miss Lynnwood Kinder, Miss Mary Helen Crosswhite, who was forced to retire because of ill health, and Miss Elizabeth Painter. In addition to their studies, they put in a quite versatile program, taking part wholeheartedly in sports activities, club and student-body affairs.

The home stretch was in view as they entered the second half of their career as veterans of P. H. S. and 106 stepped into the ranks as Juniors at the beginning of this last school year.

Their regular routine was changed somewhat with a new principal, Mr. Edgar G. Pruet, and many new teachers. But happy high school careers were futher pepped up by our large, adequate gym and new Home Ec. cottage. As their Senior year looms ahead there are many of their number who will hold down school and club offices: Billie Kirchner is the new State Hi-Y President; Johnny Wygal is Captain of the 1940 edition of our Football team; Howard Golden and Hubert Groseclose will be Editorin-Chief and Business Manager respectively of the 1941 Oriole, while Nichol Eskridge has already been elected President of the Class of '41.

Miss Elizabeth Blair, Mr. Ralph O'Hair and Miss Catherine Wood were the Junior home-room teachers and truly deserve a lot of credit for it.

On May 10th of this exciting year the class presented a Junior play entitled "When Sally Comes to Town," a Stark comedy, with Ann Andring in the lead. Other "Jolly Juniors" in the cast were Sonny Eggert, Wilma Carter, Doyle Strain, James Romano, Nickie Meredith, Ruth Rhea Landis, Lois Russell and Elizabeth Vaughan.

They now consider themselves a little "grown-upish," but that, of course, is just their opinion. Some of the faculty insist that they're "just children in men's clothing."

All in all, they've led a most active school life for the past three years, and naturally look forward to the last round when soon they'll be "(un)Dignified Seniors."

OUR SENIORS

Our high school days are past and o'er, Life's highway lies before us; But ere we leave these precious halls, Sweet mem'ries linger o'er us Of our dear P.II. S.

Through four dear years you've guided us, You've shared our joys and sorrows; Your spirit, like a candle flame, Will brighten all our 'morrows, Our own dear P. H. S.

We'll ne'er forget your fond ideals Nor standards you have taught us. Forever we're indebted, too, For benefits you've brought us, Yes, you, dear P. H. S.

So as we sadly say "Farewell,"
In true, sincere devotion,
Our voices raise to laud and praise,
In real, heartfelt emotion
For our dear P.II. S.

Hail to your colors, orange and black, Close to our hearts we hold you. The time has come to say "Adieu," May honor e'er enfold you. Farewell, Farewell, dear P. H. S.

THE CLASS 1940

NCE upon a time, 'way back now wait a minute—when was it? Oh, yes, back in 1936, about 117 bewildered young things came up the street and gathered together to start out on a long journey. They weren't going far away—in fact, no farther than Third Street in the middle of town; but the four years that were to be spent there were to prepare them for an important journey, indeed, and one that would last as long as they lived—the journey of Life itself. Yes, they were going to school, and, to them, not an ordinary school but High School. They gathered, excited and noisy, in the auditorium to be assigned to their respective teachers, who were Miss Laura Dalton, Miss Crystal Frye, and Miss Louise Bondurant. After they had become used to the routine of school and had ceased to be excited over the new and seemingly foreign subjects—mathematics(?), algebra(?), general science(?), civics(?)—which turned out to be just plain old arithmetic, civics, and English that they had in grammar school (a slight disillusionment), they elected class officers-President, John Tate; Vice-President, Elmer Robinson; Secretary and Treasurer, Sarah Lugar.

In the fall of '37, after a summer's rest, a goodly number of the happy group returned as "Sophisticated Sophs." No longer bewildered, they considered the school as their rightful property, and looked with disdain no the "ignorant Freshmen," who seemed to be bewildered by the whole thing. Aims and ambitions seemed to be creeping into conversations and thoughts, as a slight division was made by some taking Latin and some ancient history, while other ambitious people took both. This year was rather uneventful, as sophomore years are likely to be, except that at the end the class found itself, unbelievable—JUNIORS!

By the time school convened again our heroes and heroines had dwindled to eighty-six in number, and again they were divided, according to those taking the commercial course (ably taught by Miss Katherine Michael, who was admired by all) and those taking the academic course, taught by our beloved Miss Elizabeth Blair. During the year the group was enlarged by four new members who were destined to play a large part in the class's activities. These were Betty Billig of York, Pennsylvania, Frances Cale of Wytheville, Virginia, Mary Ann Ratcliffe of Dublin, Virginia, and Virginia Painter of Draper, Virginia. groups of "Jolly Juniors" worked hard and had lots of fun, but the entirely happy year was saddened (at its close) by the resignation of their beloved principal, Mr. Hensel Eckman. Without his great wisdom and understanding, the foundations of their various careers, and of their class as a whole, could not have been as firm or as lasting.

Practically the same group, lessened slightly, that came up the street a little nervously on that September day in 1936 came up the same street quite determinedly and anything but nervously on September 14, 1939, for now they were "Dignified"(?) Seniors! The only thing that was bewildering to them was the fact that this was their last year at "dear old P. H. S." This was a little disheartening, but never dismayed about anything for long, they plunged right in with a will and the determination to make their last year the best one yet. By now, my children, you should realize that I'm talking about our own Senior class, which is, literally (or at least we think so), the best one yet.

After a very few weeks of the new routine, we elected our very efficient class officers. David Jameson, who is beloved by all, boys and girls alike, has ably led us through this year with humor and authority harmoniously blended throughout.

Ann Morehead, who for two years carried the leadership of our class on her capable shoulders, gave the presidency over to David this year, but has been a coöperative and helpful assistant to him in her office as vice-president of our class of '40.

"Jenny" Painter so endeared herself in all our hearts last year, that we all wanted her for one of our officers; and she has served efficiently and accurately in her position as secretary of this, the largest class ever to graduate from P. H. S.

Our treasurer, Billy Mumpower, has been "just Billy" to all of us for so long that there just wasn't anyone else in our minds for such a responsible position. He has never failed to execute his office expertly and has come up to all of our expectations of him.

COMPLETES THIRD YEAR WITH SUCCESS

THEY LEARN

During the three years the Diversified Occupations course has been in progress at Pulaski Iligh School, more than seventy Seniors have received at least one or two years experience in this practical training. More than ninety per cent enter college for further training or receive employment with local business concerns.

In commenting on the program, Mr. Anst said, "I think the program has great possibilities. When you have interested business men and serious-minded students, the ultimate end is sure to spell success. In Pulaski, the business men have cooperated wonderfully. The students, too, as a whole, are grateful for the chance to get practical experience and thus have applied themselves to their jobs. Our cases of maladjustment have been few. Personally, I've been pleased with results of the program."

The following 45 firms have taken students in the D. O. during the past three years:

Pulaski Hospital, Harrison-Hancock Hdwe. Co., Pulaski Motor Co., W. M. Phibbs, Appalachian Electric Power Co., Virginia Maid Hosiery Mills, Pulaski County Health Unit, Christiansburg Cauning Co., Pulaski Veneer Co., Jefferson Silk Mills, Paul Knitting Mills, Seagle's Pharmacy, Hotel Pulaski, Pulaski Candy Co., Norfolk & Western Railroad, Pulaski and Dalton Theatres, (Waverite, Roslyn's, Via Beauty Shops), State Highway Dept., Watson's, W. .... THIS BUSINESS OF

SCARCELY having settled down from the natural excitement and upheaval that the beginning of a new school year usually brings forth, we realized that it was definitely time to start working if we were to have a 1940 Oriole; so we promptly elected our most competent Oriole officials—Editorin-Chief, Betty Jane Billig; and Business Manager, Elizabeth Adair. Our selection proved to be quite an intelligent one, too; for Betty worked untiringly and, although at times disheartened herself, she always had a cheery word for the rest of the staff and held aloft the undying spirit of the Class of '40. Elizabeth, the first feminine business manager in the history of Orioles, certainly disproved any of the ancient opinions that it takes a man to do business, by quickly and quietly obtaining the necessary financial portion of our Annual.

This year we decided to choose two sponsors, Miss Charlotte Booker for the editorial division, and Mr. Foy Aust for the business end of the organization. They were both wisely chosen and were invariably reliable, faithful, and willing aids to all of us in our "hours of need." Miss Booker's sensible advice and suggestions were of the utmost assistance to the Editorial Staff, while Foy's originality, psychology, and sense of humor often saved the day for the business department. We'll all be eternally grateful for their essential contributions to the success of this Oriole.

Soon after the Oriole election, Betty and Elizabeth announced their congenial staff appointees as follows: Ass't Editorin-Chief, Sarah Lugar; Literary Editor, Alice Carney, who chose as her assistant, Mary Louise Cassell; Art Editor, Ann Morehead; Sports Editor, Virginia Painter; Photographic Editor, Douglas Whitesell; Ass't Business Manager, Donald Morehead; Advertising Manager, John Tate; Circulation Managers, Garland Carper and Kemper Baker; Associate Managers, Franklin Hiltzheimer and Charlie Michele. The underclassmen, who were elected by their separate classes, were: Junior, Nichol Eskridge; Sophomore, Ruth Wallace; and Freshman, Lloyd Byrd.

Realizing that we should have a special place for official Oriole dealings, we then set about obtaining an Oriole office. With the consent of Mr. Pruet, a small, unused, second-floor room was accordingly turned into official Oriole head-quarters, and some old packing boxes promptly made into desks for the Business Manager and Editor. A few more appropriate decorations, and everything was in readiness.

First there were photographic, engraving, and printing contracts to close; and after much consideration, formal agreements were signed with the Pulaski Studio, Jahn & Ollier Engraving Co., and B. D. Smith & Bros., Printers, respectively. But that was only the beginning. Books on modern methods of publishing annuals had to be read and studied: a sequence dummy had to be set up; pictures had to be taken, mounted, and sent to the engravers; articles had to be written; and finally, loose ends brought together and the Annual sent to press. But even that was far from the end....in fact, not until the Oriole came back as you see it now, could we really call our work completed.

Our editorial staff will always be grateful to those non-staff members who so graciously coöperated by giving their time and energy toward the completion of this Oriole.

The Business Staff began its very important task of procuring the necessary "wherewithall" early in the first term when they sponsored a Frolic, directed by our Editor-in-Chief, which consisted of a main show in the form of a musical comedy entitled, "To Schrick the Villain," numerous side shows and booths, and finally climaxing the whole affair, a big dance. "The P. H. S. Follies," as it was called, was distinctly a success in every way and will be one of the lasting memories of the Class of '40.

PERPETUATING A MEMORY

Our Advertising and Circulation Departments did their work so capably and efficiently that soon we came to the startling and joyful realization that our financial goal was practically reached.

As a final business enterprise, our inimitable Mr. Aust produced and directed an entirely successful freak show, "The P. H. S. Talent Parade," which brought to light much of our latent P. H. S. talent and provided one of the most delightful entertainments of the year.

In this, our 1040 Oriole, we have tried to the best of our ability to portray for you the story of this past school year. We realize that it is far from perfect, but we hope that in years to come, it will serve as a key to the door of many treasured memories of the year 1939-'40. As the years go by, may it ever increase in value as its pages bring back fond recollections of our "School days, school days,

Dear old Golden Rule days."

HONORARY SOCIETY WAS FIRST TO REORGANIZE

OF THE formerly established clubs of P. H.S. the Pulaski Chapter of the Beta Club was the first to be reorganized this year. The club got off to an excellent beginning with Miss Elizabeth McDonald as the sponsor; and under the capable leadership of President Garnett Phibbs, assisted by Vice-President Sara Hudson, Secretary Sarah Lugar, and Treasurer Billy Mumpower, it forged on to new heights of attainment. Other charter members, including Elizabeth Adair, Betty Billig, Margaret Bunts, Laura Clark (who took a prominent part in the State Convention at Roanoke), Ruth Dickerson, Helen Jackson, Margaret Owen, Kathleen Owens, John Tate, and James Vinson, contributed their essential part to the organization by taking outstanding roles in every activity. They were equaled in achievements also by the Juniors – Nita Austin, Marion Bralley, Peggy Dobson, Edith Dickerson, Nichol Eskridge, Christine Fairchild, Hubert Groseclose, Katherine Jones, and Geraldine Millirons. Those members who were elected and installed at mid-term included: Seniors-Albert Folden, Edward Carney, Mary Lee Hudson, Margaret Kegley, Dorothy Manuel, Charles Michele, Frances Plunkett; and Juniors-Billie Kirchner and Dottie Leache.

'Twas a very active club which planned and carried out various projects for the year, such as generously contributing to the new movie screen, supplying free football programs last season, assisting in obtaining lockers, and sponsoring the provision of the 1940-41 handbooks, besides innumerable social functions throughout the year.

The Beta Club has been successful this year in upholding its main purpose—that of promoting scholarship, leadership, citizenship, and character throughout the entire school, as well as in individual lives.

HI-Y STANDS HIGH

O CREATE, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character is the threefold purpose of this very prominent organization, which was led through 1939-40 by its capable President, Sarah Lugar; Vice-President, Virginia Painter; Secretary, Elizabeth Brown; and very efficient Treasurer, Elizabeth Adair.

Excitement reigned in the hearts of the members when they took off for the State Convention in Charlottesville last November. They were well represented by Local President and State Vice-President Sarah Lugar, Billie Kirchner (who was elected State President at the convention), Mary Ann Ratcliffe, Elizabeth Adair, Peggy Laughon, Frances Plunkett, Virginia Painter, Margaret Bunts, and Elaine Eggert.

Last December they were again honored by the invitation to install a new Hi-Y Club at Virginia High School in Bristol, Virginia.

The girls attended some church in a body once a month, and in the spring a Bible study was held. At Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter, baskets of food and clothes were given to charity

Our Hi-Y prides itself in the selection of Miss Catherine Wood and Miss Mary Ann Sanderson as club sponsors, while the membership is composed of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. Seniors who sparked the club in all achievements included Frances Plunkett, Elizabeth Brown, Isabel Gilmer, Sarah Lugar, Mary Louise Cassell, Virginia Painter, Mildred Keister, Katherine Harman, Mary Ann Ratcliffe, Elaine Eggert, Laura Clark, Margaret Bunts, Margaret Owen, Betty Billig, Elizabeth Adair, and Ida Wallace; the underclassmen—Edith Dickerson, Peggy Dobson, Dorothy Gilmer, Letty Waugh, Billy Kirchner, Helen Jordan, Peggy Laughon, Lois Rosenbaum, and Patsy Miller—contributed a part to the organization that could not be outdone by any Senior member.

HI-Y BOYS CONTINUE HIGH IDEALS

THE Boys' Hi-Y, led by President John Tate, Vice-President Billy Mumpower, Secretary-Treasurer Garnett Phibbs, chose Mr. John S. Coiner as their sponsor at the beginning of the school year, and he has indeed proved worthy of their choosing.

Movies sponsored by the Boys' Hi-Y have been enjoyed by the students and have added vim to the activities of the club. Programs of the year included its contributing to the buying of a new movie screen for the school, moving pictures, joint dances with the Girls' Hi-Y, gifts to charity, and various social activities.

Members other than the officers included Garland Carper, Preston Price, Ralph Tester, Kermit Jackson, Kemper Baker, Donald Morehead, Elmer Robinson, Sonny Miller, Melvin Hall, Edward Carney, Louis Painter, Nichol Eskridge, Tom Massie, Johnny Wygal, David Jameson, Bill Steger, Douglas Whitesell, Eugene Huff, Donnie Richardson, Ronnie Vaughan, Moody Vann, and Herbert Groseclose.

OF THE "P"

UNDER the leadership of Isabel Gilmer, President, and Miss Jean Bundy, Sponsor, the Girls' Monogram Club has enjoyed another year which has been both interesting and profitable. Other executive officers were Vice-President Virginia Painter and Secretary-Treasurer Dottie Leache.

One of the outstanding activities for the year was a talent show put on to raise money for monograms and certificates; but the highlight of the social activities was the yearly initiation ceremonies when new members were taken in after basketball season.

Charter members of the club who have been instrumental in making it function to its greatest heights are Sarah Lugar, Elizabeth Adair, and Ruth Webb.

OUR ATHLETIC HEROES

EVERY club has some purpose; and "to forward athletics and sportsmanship in Pulaski High School through a gathering of wholesome comradeship and fellowship" is the foremost purpose of the Boys' Monogram Club. The organization was under the sponsorship of Mr. John S. Coiner and includes all P. H. S. boys who have been awarded letters for outstanding athletic achievements, representing the three major sports—football, basketball, and baseball, besides swimming and minor sports.

Approximately 23 boys merited letters this year for athletic gallantry, including Robert Alley, Andrew Ashby, "Bo" Smith, Charles Michele, Jack Bouldin, Kenneth Farmer, Nichol Eskridge, Edward Carney, Bow Haislip, Burman Grantham, Johnny Wygal, Dick Haislip, John Tate, Bill Hardy, Howard Golden, Forrest Owens, Ralph Tester, Bill Bouldin, Donald Morehead, Tom Massie, Moody Vann, Eugene Huff and Louis Painter.

In the spring the club was entirely reörganized under the direction of its sports-minded sponsor, and they adopted a new constitution; plans were also made toward a more active year during the next school term. Other members besides those listed above were Watt Amburn, Roy Chatman, Douglas Moyers, David Jameson, Cooper Perkins and Porter Ham.

WHEN P. H. S. came out upon the field for the grand and glorious opening of the 1939 gridiron season, our famed eleven was greeted with flying colors mingled with the deafening crescendo of rahs and rahs and sis-boom-bahs that characterize the undying spirit of ye Olde Alma Mater.

Several weeks before the beginning of school, our new and, as he's proved without a doubt, most efficient coach, young John S. Coiner, had appeared upon the scene; and the boys immediately began training strenuously in order to be in tip-top shape for that first great fight of the season.

Coach Coiner is an alumnus of William and Mary, where he coached track and football for a half year. While in college he also starred in football, baseball, track, tennis and boxing, and participated in various other sports activities. Before coming to P. H. S. he also had a year's experience in coaching baseball, basketball, and football at Blackstone High School in Blackstone, Virginia. Our curly haired athletic instructor is a native of Washington, D. C., and distinctly demonstrated his most attractive personality by immediately gaining the genuine support of every member of our football squad, as well as the sincere admiration of everyone with whom he came in contact. "Actions speak louder than words" was definitely proved by our splendid 1939-'40 sports record.

The boys had been training for only a few weeks when, on September 16, they stepped out to their first battle of the year. Morehead, Vann, Owens, Grantham, Hall, Wygal, Hardy, Golden, Huff, Tate, Massie, and Adams were all in that first lineup and, although the Vinton Terriers topped us by a slight margin of 13-6, our undefeated P. H. S. spirit was clearly shown one week later, when we scored a smashing victory over Hillsville and downed them 60-0. Then victory followed victory! On September 30, in the first night game our boys had played, Martinsville fell under our victorious charge as we pocketed another winning score of 6-0.

October 6 found us facing one of our most dreaded rivals. For seven long years the Radford Bobcats had scored successive victories; but this year the tables turned in our favor when, after a sluggish first half under the hot sun at

Our Coaches

Calfee Park, the Orioles clicked on a scoring pass to hang up our first win over the Bobcats in a coon's age. With the ball resting on Radford's seven yard line and the fourth down coming up, Owens faded back and flipped a pass straight over the middle; Adams caught it in the end zone, nestling it to his chest as the Oriole fans turned loose that tremendous victory cheer, stifled since 1931. The winning drive started at Pulaski's 36 with Captain Berman Grantham leading the attack in the best game he'd played that season.

With another spectacular victory in the bag, we were ready to push forward again, and on October 13 smashed Galax by a distinct overtone of 6-0.

The first real disaster of the season occurred on October 20, as Saltville High took the game in their hands with a resulting score of 28-12. However, luck found its way home again on November 3, when we gloriously defeated Christiansburg to the tune of 20-7!

Then it was that our schedule pointed out the date of November 10, when we met our greatest rival, Wytheville. 'Twas a gala night, and one of the most exciting that Oriole fans had ever experienced. As the colorful motor-cade procession from Pulaski to Wytheville left the school, the blare from 150 auto horns rent the air. They were all colorfully decorated in P. H. S. orange and black and were led over the 26 mile route by State Trooper Dalton, being met at Fort Chiswell by Mayor Taylor of Wytheville.

Uncovering a deadly, accurate aerial attack that netted first downs and scores when thrusts at the line failed, Pulaski's Orioles downed the big Maroon eleven 13-7. 'Twas a thrill-a-minute game that kept the tremendous throng, which filled the Evansham field to capacity, continually on its feet. The victory over our traditional rival satisfactorily avenged our 1938 loss of 14-9 and brought the '39 Orioles out as one of the best teams Pulaski has ever produced.

With the score locked in a 7-7 tie at the end of the third quarter, our Vann-Owens combination again clicked to perfection on two passes, and in the beginning of the last period, Morehead, playing a most beautiful game, went over the line to score again amidst the magnanimous cheering of the thousands that crowded the stadium! That last quarter was the most intense and exciting that any fan could hope for, with the Maroons steadily battling for the front. But Pulaski stayed off a last minute aerial attack that kept hearts in throats, intercepted a pass, and as they dashed up the field again, the whistle blew and the game was over! No finer high school football has been witnessed in many a day and the celebration is one to be remembered always.

Even though we met defeat in the last two games of the season with Narrows and Marion by scores of 36-6 and 7-6 respectively, we're exceptionally proud of our team. They licked both Radford and Wytheville in one all-powerful, mighty, and glorious stride!

Captain Berman Grantham certainly proved his ability in leading his team to so many victories, and every single lineman stood out in the most spectacular plays of the season. Johnny Wygal, one of our most outstanding stars of 1939, was unanimously chosen captain for 1940, and with such a leader we have every reason for looking forward to an equally wonderful season next year.

Any team with such a record must have had some unusually good managers and so we look to Edward Carney and Ronald Vaughan, his young assistant. Edward has always been interested in sports and certainly did a grand job of managing, while Ronnie's efficiency was proved when he was selected to be manager of both our basketball and baseball teams.

They played only two games and lost both, but their opponents happened to be the best teams of this section and we're proud of them for making the stand they did. Mr. Ralph O'Hair is their most efficient coach and, although this was his first year of coaching experience, he has made excellent progress.

And so football season closed as the winter months came on, but we'll never forget the grand and glorious times we had on the 1939 football field, nor the fame that was won there for our old Alma Mater! Three cheers for P. H. S.!

P. H. S. PEPPERS PEP OUR PEP

A NEW organization, the Pep Club, was organized at the beginning of school by Mr. John Coiner and Mr. Ralph O'Hair. The purpose of this club was to sell candy and soft drinks at football, basketball, and baseball games and to promote spirit at P. H. S. The proceeds of the sales went to the school and Athletic Association.

The club was composed of a select group of girls, including Virginia Painter, efficient and enthusiastic President; Lorene Duncan, Vice-President; Dotty Gilmer, Secretary and Treasurer; Elizabeth Adair, Betty Billig, Margaret Bunts, Peggy Bosang, Peggy Dobson, Elaine Eggert, Isabel Gilmer, Helen Jordan, Billy Kirchner, Peggy Laughon, Dottie Leache, Ann Morehead, Janie Via, Letty Waugh, Ruth Webb, Sarah Lugar, Puddy Steger, Peggy Martin, and Mary Ann Ratcliffe.

These "jolly peppers" have worked faithfully, and the club has made splendid progress in its first year of existence. It has already become a part of the school and looks forward to being a still greater organization in the future.

OFFICERS LEARNED TO OFFICIATE

IN NEW ORGANIZATION

ALTHOUGH the Officers' Club seemed strange and new, it was made quite interesting and valuable as Miss J. Frances Allen, club sponsor, carefully unfolded and simplified its purpose—that of encouraging and pronoting proper parliamentary procedure throughout all P. H. S. organizations. Thus, the membership was strictly limited to officers of the recognized organizations of the high school, including class and home room officers.

John Tate, President; Porter Ham, Vice President; Ruth Wallace, Secretary, and David Jameson. Treasurer, comprised the official staff for 1939-'40, and they led the following additional members through a most profitable year: Garnett Amburn, Ann Andring, Betty Jane Billig, Helen Black, Margaret Bunts, Alice Carney, Edward Carney, Bill Carper, Wilma Carter, Lois Collins, Betty Ann Denham, Edith Dickerson, Bill Dudley, Lorene Duncan, Bonnie Jean Gallimore, Pauline Gatewood, Merita Gibson, Dotty Gilmer, Bill Hardy, Billie Harris, Ruby Hearn, Eleanor Imboden, Mildred Jones, Ruth Jones, Helen Jordan, Dottie Leache, Bob MacAdoo, Muriel Martin, Helen Martin, Patsy Miller, Ann Morehead, Hilda Myers, Frank Newsome, Louis Painter, Cooper Perkins, Garnett Phibbs, Raymond Riggs, Donald Richardson, Royce Rosenbaum, Thomas Silcox, Ellen Maude Steger, Bobby Stevens, H. A. Turner, Lucy Turner, Ronald Vaughan, Janie Via, Jimmy Walker, Lettie Waugh, Doris Webb, Mable White, Patsy Whitaker, Bob Whitman, and Johnny Wygal.

P.H.S. FRENCHMEN CARRY ON

Le circle francais, a rather informal society, was sponsored by Miss Elizabeth Blair, who teaches both French 10 and 11. The first Monday of each month was especially set aside for less seances, when a program committee supplied a social heure, which usually consisted of games and general entertainment pertaining to French.

Monsieurs Hubert Groseclose, Bill Hardy, Frank Hiltzheimer, Edward Pagans, Donald Richardson, James Romano, Doyle Strain, and James Vinson made up the male population of the club, and were nearly doubled in number by les Mademoiselles Ann Andring, Elizabeth Adair, Betty Billig, Margaret Bunts, Frances Cale, Isabel Gilmer, Milda Morefield, Frances Plunkett, Elva Ryan, and Betty Whitaker, besides President Ann Morehead, Vice-President Doris Webb, Secretary Katherine Harman, and Treasurer Elizabeth Brown.

Le Circle seeks to provide painless practice for the use of French learned in class.

WE HAD SOME DRAMA FANS TOO

W HEN Miss "Mac" mentioned the fact that she was planning to sponsor a Dramatic Club, she was overwhelmed by the number of students who were interested. Approximately 70 drama fans joined the club, whose two-fold purpose was to further students' interests in both professional and high school drama, and to recognize latent dramatic talent in P. H. S.

The club was very active under the leadership of Virginia Painter, President; Peggy Martin, Vice-President; Ann Morehead, Secretary; and Margaret Bunts, Treasurer. For example, when the San Carlo Opera Co. presented Verdi's La Traviata in Roanoke last winter, about 60 members journeyed to that fair city and enjoyed the performance; they also sponsored trips to Roanoke to see certain other professional plays, including Thornton Wilder's Our Town, as well as to Radford for Shakespeare's Macbeth and Hamlet. The club also assisted in the presentation of Pulaski High dramatic functions, including the P. H. S. Follies and the Senior play, Once There was a Princess.

P.H.S. NATURE LOVERS STARTED A MUSEUM

OUR Museum Club was organized similar to the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. Its officers, therefore, were slightly different from ordinary club officers. The Board of Trustees included: President, Ruby Hearn; Vice-President, Jimmy Walker; Secretaries, Muriel and Helen Martin; Treasurer, Peggy Bosang; Director, H. G. Perkins; Assistant Director, Edward Carney; Secretary to Director, Bonnie Jean Gallimore; Publicity, Eleanor Imboden; Program, Dolly Myers; Curator-in-Chief, Bob MacAdoo; Cataloguer-in-Chief, Henry Cable; Assistants, Cooper Morefield and Ruth Jones; Technician, Royce Rosenbaum; Sponsor, Miss J. Frances Allen; Advisors, Lucy Turner, Bob Whitman, Pauline Gatewood, Clinton Jennings, and Ernest Fuller.

AERONAUTICAL ENTHUSIASTS TAKE TO THE AIR

NOTHER unusual but popular organization was the Oriole Aero Club, whose members, as the name suggests, were interested in various phases of aviation, particularly in model aeronautics. Although the membership was purely male, they chose Miss Elizabeth Blair as their sponsor.

The boys participated in a contest sponsored by Harrison-Hancock Hardware Company, and the winner. David Jameson, was presented with a sixfoot gas model kit. The runners-up—James Farner, Dennis Frye, Lloyd Byrd, Jeff French, and Frank Akers—also received model kits. The club planned a number of other model meets for the spring, and the contests were held both indoors and out.

For their programs, interesting talks were given by visitors on different phases of model building, and some of the meetings were building sessions in which the boys worked individually or in small groups.

The whole club was very active throughout the year, with David Jameson as President; Donald Richardson, Vice-President; Elmer Robinson, Secretary; and Sonny Eggert, Treasurer. Other aeronautical aspirants were Frank Akers, Kelley Albert, Lloyd Byrd, Douglas Crowell, Bill Dudley, Walter Fanning, James Farmer, James French, Dennis Frye, Thomas Harrell, H. W. Huff, Edward King, Dave Laughon, Clyde Marshall, Dow Owens, Billy Rorrer, Lawrence Roseberry, Bearl Ross, Howard Schrader, Louis Shaffer, Howard Silcox, Carl Stafford, and Rollin White.

TO FROLIC IN RHYTHM

EXHIBITIONISM was not one of the fundamental purposes of the Modern Dancing Club. To develop coördination, good posture, and a sense of rhythm were rather the chief aims of its members, under the excellent leadership and training of Miss Virginia Harman. One night each week the girls gathered in the gym for exercises and technique work, and when they became more experienced, even composed their own dances.

The help in ballroom dancing which the dancers derived was nearly all indirect, except that the ability to move in correct time with music, a sense of balance, and good posture all are assets to any good ballroom dancer.

For its activity programs, the club either discussed the cultural aspects of the modern dance or joined with Miss Catherine Wood's club in lessons in social dancing.

Feeling that no executive officers were necessary, the girls elected only a treasurer, Wilma Carter; other rhythmicers included Elizabeth Brown, Wilma DeHaven, Peggy Dobson, Lorene Duncan, Jean Edwards, Irene French, Madeline Gwynn, Aileen Hale, Juanita Haley, Katherine Harman, Billie Harris, Doris Howlett, Margaret Hudson, Alma Hurst, Mary Johnson, Ruth Johnson, Lucille Martin, Ruth Nelson, Evelyn Pettyjohn, Dorothy Pyrtle, Blanche Rash, Lois Rosenbaum, Mary Ryan, Margaret Shrader, Donna Smith, Hazel Stone, Eva Mae Surber, Doris Surratt, Ruth Wallace, Donna Willis, and Elizabeth Vaughan.

ORIOLE ORATORS FORGE ONWARD

BETTER Public Speakers" was the motto of the Public Speaking Club, which had its beginning under the direction of Miss Lynnwood Kinder, and the object also included developing their minds along many lines.

At the meetings which were held every Wednesday during activity period, the members made speeches on various subjects; each talk was constructively criticized by the other members and beneficial suggestions were usually made. They also studied articles and books on various phases of public speaking in order that they might be able to talk intelligently on any subject.

The officers were Nichol Eskridge, President; Letty Waugh, Vice-President; Billie Kirchner, Secretary, and Billy Groseclose, Treasurer. Other speakers included Elizabeth Adair, Jack Caldwell, DeWitt Creger, Ohmer Crowell, Edith Dickerson, G.C. Hall, Syble Hawkins, Catherine Jones, Dennis Landis, Nichols Meredith, Blanche Nelson, Garnett Phibbs, and Willis Spangler,

GET IN THE GAME

SINCE sports are always popular, this club, sponsored by Miss Jean Bundy, was enthusiastically organized. There was one definite purpose in view—that of assisting in sports of our high school in every phase possible, whether it be financially or socially, or in the fostering of inter-mural sports' activities and other related subjects.

The Sports Club studied the topic of intermural sports as to their value, their success in various school organizations, and possibilities of their being adopted by Pulaski High School. As a result of the club's study and "round table" discussions, a complete organized plan for an inter-mural program was drawn up. These attempts were only preliminaries to what the club hopes will become an active part of school life in the future.

Sports-minded officers of this club were: President, Ann Andring; Vice-President, Bill Hardy; Secretary-Treasurer, Charles Michele; Program Chairman, Dotty Gilmer; Finance Chairman, Dottie Leache; Social and Recreational Chairman, Bill Bouldin. King Harrison, Eugene Huff, Johnny Wygal, Preston Jones, Slick Tench, Ben Knapp, Russell Cline, Douglas Moyers, Bob Wallace, Jack Bolden, Sonny Miller, Howard Golden, Elizabeth Yaughan, Jane Ann Hogg, Berman Grantham, Mary Ryan, Mary Jackson, Pierce Flinchum, Vernon Greenamyer, Muriel Gunham, Colleen Manuel, Frances Cale, Bow Haislip, Mable White and Mary Sue Amburn comprised the other sportsmen.

IS THAT YOUR HOBBY?

M ISS Mary Hays undertook to sponsor the Hobby Club, which had an enrollment of about twenty-five members. Louis Painter was elected President, while Puddy Steger was named Secretary-Treasurer.

Photography, match-collecting, stamp collecting, making dolls, and collecting roses are only a few of the hobbies that members of this club enjoyed. The program committee attemped to have talks by visitors or a field trip every other week, and interesting contests were held for the different types of hobbyists. Enthusiasts, other than the officers, were Frances Adair, Nita Austin, Nellie Cecil, Eloise Covey, Hubert Groseclose, Jordan Howard, Kermit Jackson, Milda Morefield, Ned Muire, Roy Reese, Lois Rosenbaum, Jackie Seagle, Doyle Strain, Ronald Vaughan, Patsy Whitaker and Douglas Whitesell.

AS YOU SEW SO SHALL YOU RIP

WHEN the "Sisters of the Skillet" got together at the cottage for their first meeting on December 6, they were such a happy bunch that, through Lois Collins's suggestion, they just had to call themselves the "Joy-Ec-Ers." And 'twas a pretty good name, too, as you can see by the expressions on the faces of Lois Collins, Patsy Miller, Hilda Myers, (and, of course, all the others in the picture). They had some good times, too, because, for one thing, Grace Crawford suggested that they make a study of how to have more interesting and pleasing personalities; and, of course, the majority of them thought that they should take up the points governing the popularity of the girls with boys—the whys and wherefores, etc., etc! You might be surprised at what comes out of the portals of the Home Ec cottage!

The club as a whole was a happy, cheerful group of girls, who elected as president petite Patsy Miller, who just seemed to need no vice-president! As secretary they chose Lois Collins; and as treasurer, Grace Crawford, while Hilda Myers acted as parliamentarian. The rest of the group (who learned all too soon that "as you sew, so shall you rip") was made up of Myrtis Fagg, Stella Rigney, Glenna Myers, Naomi Kegley, Christine Fairchild, Aileen Shepherd, Iris Agee, Rachel Taylor, Lena Shepherd, Clare Nell Tester, Glenna Hughes, Lucile Huff, and Helen Cole, with Miss Charlotte Booker as sponsor.

WHAT'S NEWS?

VOICE OF P. H.S. CHIRPS ON

CHIRPS from the Oriole Chirps staff have been heard at regular intervals throughout the year, and they've done their work well in putting out a paper worthy of our P. H. S.

Johnny Tate, as Editor-in-Chief, led his staff enthusiastically and efficiently, and showed wisdom in choosing the other members which were as follows: Assistant Editor-in-Chief, Virginia Painter; Business Manager, Hubert Groseclose; Literary Editor, Sara Hudson; Assistant Literary Editors, Howard Golden and J. C. Lefew; News Editor, Nichol Eskridge; Poem Editor, Porter Ham; Sports Editor, Douglas Moyers; Joke Editor, Margaret Owens; Society Editor, Laura Clark; Reporters, Maybelle Fagg and Lois Rosenbaum; Advertising Managers, Frances Plunkett and Elaine Eggert.

Miss Elizabeth Painter undertook the sponsorship and assisted greatly in perpetuating our "voice of P. H. S."

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

We, the Senior Class of 1940, hereby resolve:

- 1. Never to be the Senior Class of 1940 again.
- 2. Always to be (and we quote) "numskulls and babies, who act like the inhabitants of a menagerie!" (end of quote).
- 3. Always to achieve success in every new phase of fun we strive to commit.
- Positively to procure all our senior class privileges on or before June 5, 1940.
- 5. To love, honor, and obey all our dear teachers 'til death, marriage or graduation do us part.

We, the Junior Class of 1940, hereby resolve:

- 1. To be the most undignified of undignified seniors next 1941.
- 2. To follow closely in the footsteps of our forerunners, the 1940 "Senior Class Dopes."
- To proceed undauntedly in our roles as "children in men's clothing."
- 4. Not to begin our second child-hood before September 1940.
- Never to admit that any of our underclassmen could possibly approach our status as being the jolliest of "Jolly Juniors."

We, the Student Body of 1940, hereby resolve:

- To win the State championship in football, basketball, swimming, etc., every year in the future.
- To install a sound recording system for future cheering at Radford and Wytheville football games.
- 3. That P. H. S. shall be our one and only High School Alma Mater.
- 4. To uphold standards set before us by our 1940 Seniors.
- 5. To love, honor, and cherish forever ideals of invaluable worth which our school life at P. H. S. has striven to teach us.

We, a few members of the 1940 Oriole staff, hereby resolve:

- 1. Never again to sit up a minute later than 6:45 a. m. writing for the Oriole.
- 2. To read every single word of our Annual and to understand it in its full depth of meaning.
- 3. To let others in on a little secret, that "Experience is the best teacher."

FIFTEEN RAHS FOR THE TEAMS!

YES, fifteen hundred rahs for the teams! Are we proud of 'em? You said it! Every last lad and lassie of P. H. S. feels a warm glow of pride in remembering the brave and daring battles that our Orioles and Oriolettes put up to bring home fame and glory.....perhaps not always in victory, but what's better still, in being true representatives of our standards of spirit and sportsmanship....win or lose!

COACHES

JOHN S. COINER
JEAN BUNDY
CATHERINE WOOD
RALPH O'HAIR

And here we give a vote of praise, thanks, and congratulations to our bright and cheery cheer leaders, Ann Morehead, Sonny Miller, Isabel Gilmer, Douglas Moyers and Puddy Steger, for so successfully leading the fans on the sidelines and upholding our true P. H. S. spirit in victory or defeat. These cheer leaders were selected by student body election, and have achieved their goal with true success in encouraging high standards of cheering in the cheering section.

We had four basketball coaches this year, Miss Jean Bundy, Miss Catherine Wood, Mr. John S. Coiner Miss Bunand Mr. Ralph O'Hair. dy, whose preëminence in coaching our girl forwards was so distinctly shown as the records totaled up 240 Oriolette points for the season, has always been a sports fan. While attending Madison College at Harrisonburg she not only took active part in hockey, baseball, basketball, archery, and swimming, but she also conducted swimming classes and coached the Freshman basketball squad.

One of Pulaski's most prominent golf fans, Miss Wood, who so splendiferously coached our feminine guards, is also a lover of all kinds of sports, including basketball, swimming, tennis, etc.

Coach Coiner was the director of our varsity boys' sports activities, and proved his worth in each of our three major sports, not to mention all the others; while Mr. O'Hair, a wizard at football, track, tennis, basketball and all the others, instructed our promising Junior varsity.

Basketball season opened with a bang on the night of January 10th when we played Bland on their court. We were defeated in that first attempt, but ah!...on February 16, we made a glorious comeback in one of the most exciting games of the season.

The whistle blew! Our Oriolettes were in their linup! Referees were on hand and the fight was on! The Bland girls outweighed ours and towered over them in height! But did that phase them? No, indeed! The mad scramble went on for three quarters and the score stood 13-13!

What a critical minute! At the sound of the final whistle a double foul was committed; both teams were given a free shot! The Bland girl took first try and....missed! Gilmer tried for the Orange and Black and ...it was GOOD! What a victory!

That was only an example of what proved to be one of the most exciting basketball seasons we've ever known. Our Oriole Darlings, led by their alert and versatile captain, Sarah Lugar, won eight contests, and lost only six. The superb guarding of Adair, Lugar, Leache and Dotty Gilmer, the spectacular shooting of Ann Andring (high score of 85 points), Ruth Webb, Co-Captain Isabel Gilmer, Donna Willis, and the faithful and untiring coöperation of the remainder of the squad, put out a team which was a credit to the school.

Games were played with other schools of Southwest Virginia, including Radford 18-10 in our favor, Dublin 30-6, Marion 13-16, Narrows 14-9, Draper 23-17, Christiansburg 13-29, Radford 16-13, Shoemaker 18-36, Marion 12-18, Bland 14-13, Christiansburg 8-10, Draper 18-23, Narrows 27-30, and Blacksburg 16-9. Thus, our P. H. S. girls added up a total score of 240 to our opponents' 229.

Form? Sportsmanship? Teamwork? And how!

Our Pulaski boys carried off honors in all three, and with such a combination turned out a basketball team for 1940 which did itself proud!

To mention one game which seemed most spectacular would be a difficult task; every game was filled to the brim with thrills, spills and excitement a plenty! Almost every one game was close and hard fought, but our daring lads held their opponents to the last and came out victorious in nine games and surrendered six reluctantly, but in true sportsmanship fashion.

On the opening night they lost to Bland by a score of 18-25; but on January 16 smashed a glorious victory over Radford to the tune of 29-26! Then came Narrows! But even they fell under our offensive stride as we beat them 25-20. On January 26 we knocked Marion Hi for a loop as the score board chalked up another hit of 32-19, but lost to Draper on February 2, as they topped us slightly 18-21. Other scores were as follows: Christiansburg 21-28; Radford 36-19; Shoemaker 27-48; Marion 26-25; Bland 21-14; Christiansburg 25-31; Draper 35-37; Narrows 19-16; Blacksburg 34-19; Blacksburg 31-18.

Captain Ralph Tester proved his exceptional ability by leading his team in high scoring honors, and Bill Bouldin contributed his part by sinking goals from every angle. Jack Bouldin and Louis Painter showed excellent form in their guard positions, as did Michele, Farmer, Kennedy, Dick Haislip, Bow Haislip and Donald Morehead, who always came through in the most spectacular style to clinch the games.

OTHER SPORTS

SWIMMING

NEXT in the line of sports' highlights came our Goldfish team! And what a team of swimmers they did make! They practiced three times a week, usually in Roanoke, under Mr. Ralph O'Hair's excellent coaching. Last year we were the proud winners of the State Swimming Trophy; but this season, although both David Jameson and Johnny Tate shattered several State records, Roanoke gained enough points to hold it for the year 1940.

John Tate was the captain this year, and the following team showed unexcelled coöperation: Sonny Miller, George Gerberich, Ohmer Crowell, James Romano, Porter Ham, and David Jameson (ex-captain).

At the 1940 State meet at Blacksburg, John won first place in the 100-yard free style and broke the State record in the 220-yard free style. David won first in the 50-yard breast stroke and in the 50-yard backstroke, breaking the State records in both. Other contestants came in at various intervals, including Porter Ham, who won second place in the 50-yard free style. The resulting scores were Roanoke 38, Pulaski 32, and Blacksburg 9.

Although we lost our treasured trophy, we're more than proud of our Goldfish who brought honor to our Alma Mater's name.

BASEBALL

Our Baseball team, too, lived up to the name set by the forerunning sportsmen of the year, and won victory after victory in a most successful season. The future "Babe-Ruth-Men" included Harold Smith, Rex Andrews, Moody Vann, Watt Amburn, Robert Alley, Ralph Tester, Charles Michele, Forrest Owen, Bill Bouldin, George Gerberich, Donald Morehead, Popeye Farmer, Hensel Hawkins, Mobley Durham, Bow Haislip, Hez Malone, Andrew Ashby, Benny Webb, Junior Folden, and Sonny Miller. Coach Coiner hopes that in 1941 baseball will be considered equal in rank of popularity with football and our other sports.

Other sports throughout the year were tennis, ping-pong, softball, track, and innumerable others.

ORIOLE SONGSTRESSES SING AGAIN

ONE of our most active and popular organizations, the Girls' Glee Club, was reorganized under the most careful direction of its music-minded originator, Mrs. Chloe Carney. Enjoying a membership of nearly fifty, these bright young "Chirpsters" contributed to various scholastic programs.

The highlight of their year came in April, when they attended the State Music Festival at Radford. There, they proudly carried off some of the highest honors awarded. The Club, as a whole, won the second highest rating of the Festival awarded to large groups, which was Good Plus. A small group of twelve girls sang Nevin's Little Boy Blue, and received Excellent Plus, the highest rating awarded to such small choruses.

They are exceptionally proud of their soloists who certainly set standards which will be hard to raise. Peggy Bosang, a sophomore member of the Club, won Excellent, singing "The False Prophet," by Scott; Lois Rosenbaum, another sophomore, was awarded Superior on piano; while Alice Carney, president of the Club, well deserved the rating of Superior in both piano and voice. Only eight Superior awards were given, and P. H. S. is proud to have carried off three of them—a remarkable record.

To climax the Festival, the five highest winners broadcasted their contest numbers. Alice sang "The Last Rose of Summer," by Flotow, and Lois dexterously played her "Intermezzo Orientale," by Rodgers.

Officers of the Club this most successful year were Alice Carney, President; Ann Morehead, Vice-President; Betty Jane Billig, Secretary; Virginia Painter, Librarian; and Dottie Leache, Assistant Librarian. Other members included Mary Sue Amburn, Nita Austin, Gloria Baugh, Peggy Bosang, Nellie Cecil, Viola Craig, Wilma DeHaven, Alene Dickerson, Edith Dickerson, Phyllis Dobbins, Lorene Duncan, Elaine Eggert, Aline Hale, Colleen Hall, Doris Howlett, Lucille Huff, Mabel Johnson, Mary Johnson, Katherine Jones, Mildred Jones, Lillian Keister, Ruth Rhea Landis, Charlene McNew, Colleen Manuel, Patsy Miller, Ruth Nelson, Doris Owens, Margaret Owens, Charlotte Ray, Lois Rosenbaum, Lois Russell, Donna Smith, Lucy Turner, Elizabeth Vaughan, Peggy Vaughan, Doris Webb, Elsie Weeks and Margaret Wisler.

We could write from now 'til doomsday

Of our life at P. II. S.;

But it would only be mere words,

And what could they express?

We could tell of fun we've had here,
But would that recall for you
Your secret dreams and mem'ries dear,
Or friendships fond and true?

So we now present these snapshots
In the hope that you will find
In them, a light to never fail
Of school days to remind.

... THESE SENIORS

BETTY JANE BILLIG "BETTY"

MARGARET BUNTS "BUNNY"

DAVID JAMESON "HOOK"

ANN MOREHEAD "BABE"

Betty Jane Billig—The stream of ever flowing ability, energy, and willingness to perform any task.

Margaret Bunts—A scholar in French, in fact in everything, and a very nice personality.

David Jameson—Always agreeable, always a gentleman, always helpful.

Ann Morehead—Cute, attractive, and very artistic.

WARRANT THE SPOTLIGHT

Sarah Lugar—Small she may be in stature, but she's unexcelled in heart, ability, and poise.

John Tate—A sporting good fellow on the football field or in class, and most efficient in both.

Garnett Phibbs—Mr. Busybody, who wields a skillful hand in all he attempts to do.

Virginia Painter—The girl with that effervescent smile and cheeriness unsurpassed.
