Pickwick Facts

Pickwick Lake is highly rated as one of the South's best trophy smallmouth impoundments. The ideal habitat for smallmouth is provided by Pickwick: gravel bottom, bars and banks, sunken islands, constantly flowing water, shallow cover, and well defined channel and depth changes. Best Seasons: Spring and fall are the best fishing months because the water begins to warm. Night fishing starts in June and can run well into October. Sauger is popular during December through February and Crappie fishing is good in April and May, and again during September and October.
